Nationalists Will Enter Peking Soon

(By United Press)

SHANGHAI, June 2.—(Saturday 12:10 a. m.)—China's five years' civil war today was approaching with electrifying suddenness a climax that seemed almost certain to leave all China within the historic great wall in Nationalist hands.

The northern armies were reported to be in disastrous retreat and Chang Tso-Lin, northern dictator, was reported ready to flee and leave Peking to be occupied by Nationalists without a struggle.

Chiang Kai-Shek and Yen Hsi-Shan, Nationalist leaders, today presented a proposal to Chang Tso-Lin regarding peaceful transference of Peking, it was reported.

The proposal was reported to offer terms to the demoralized northern faction in the civil war, in return for which their forces are advancing rapidly.

For such control of Peking by Nationalists would consolidate them as the central government and possibly end the civil war, at least for the present.

Famous Explorers Join Search For Lost 'Italia'

By LARS HANSEN

United Press Special Correspondent

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, June 1.—Stern men, who have braved the rigors of the Arctic to extend scientific understanding of that zone, joined today in a magnificent effort to save one of their select group, Gen. Umberto Nobile, and his aides, of the dirigible "Italia."

The "Italia" has been missing a week. It was shortly before noon last Friday that the dirigible reported that it was making slow progress down from the pole toward Kings Bay. Since then there has been only silence from the great aircraft.

Today such famous figures as Roald Amundsen, Lincoln Ellsworth, Captain Riiser-Larsen and others joined to help locate the polar dirigible.

These illustrious men are all veteran explorers of the polar waste land.

As understood now, Ellsworth, an American, will finance the expedition. Captain Riiser-Larsen and Lt. Luetzow Holm—the latter one of Norway's great flyers—will aid Amundsen, Lieutenant Deitrichsen, who has obtained leave from the flying corps to go to the south pole with Richard E. Byrd, has delayed departure to the United States so he may have part in this flight.

CHECKS PAID COLORADO SCHOOL PROFESSORS BY POWER GROUP PRODUCED AT UTILITIES PROBE

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Further evidence of the power interests' propaganda work in Colorado schools and colleges was submitted to the Federal Trade Commission power trust investigation today. George E. Lewis, executive manager of the Rocky Mountain Public Utilities Information committee, who previously testified 24 Colorado professors were on the payroll, resumed the stand.

He produced a number of checks which were paid to professors in various educational institutions. He said they were mostly for expenses of the professors in attending utilities conferences.

Under questioning by Robert E. Healy, commission council, Lewis declared there was no connection between the Denver utilities speaking course and the extension division of Colorado university. He volunteered, however, that a Professor Copeland, of Colorado college, conducted the utilities course in Pueblo.

Dr. Charles A. Lory, of the Colorado Agricultural college, was revealed as being a recipient of expense money to a meeting of the utilities education committee.

Several checks of $35 to Samuel Hofer and son aroused Healey's curiosity. Lewis explained that they paid four regular monthly subscriptions to Hofer's news service, which, he claimed, was sent to 1400 country daily and weekly newspapers over the nation.

Convention Leaders In Kansas City

By L. I. FEMRITE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 1.—The ponderous machinery of the Republican national convention began to function this morning with the arrival here of Chairman William M. Butler, of the Republican national committee, and his coterie of secretaries and confidential advisers.

No sooner had Butler alighted from the train which brought him here from New York than he plunged into the details of the convention work. The coming of Butler and his aides was all that was needed to give convention activities an official color.

But Butler declined to become embroiled in a discussion of presidential personalities.

KINGSFORD-SMITH VICTOR IN RACE AGAINST RAPIDLY DIMINISHING FUEL SUPPLY

"Southern Cross" Lands in Honolulu at 12:20 p. m., Coast Time, After 27 Hours, 28 Minutes in Air

NEVER DOUBTFUL OF SUCCESS

(By United Press)

WHEELER FIELD, HONOLULU, June 1.—Winning out in a race against a rapidly diminishing fuel supply, the trans-Pacific plane "Southern Cross" landed at Wheeler field at 9:50 a. m., Honolulu time (12:20 p. m. Pacific standard time) today.

When the wheels of the giant monoplane touched the runway of Wheeler field, the first lap of the longest all-ocean flight ever attempted was completed.

Elapsed time for the flight was 27 hours, 28 minutes.

Previously, gallons of gas had been used while the plane tried to determine its correct position and swung in toward the Island of Oahu.

At one time came the ominous message:

"Tell the destroyers to stand by. We may need them."

Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith was at the controls of the ship as the "Southern Cross" touched Hawaiian soil.

With him were Charles T. P. Ulm, relief pilot; Lt. Harry Lyon, navigator, and James Warner, radio operator.

The big monoplane made a perfect landing.

Fifth To Cross Pacific

The "Southern Cross" was the fifth plane to cross the long air lane of 2400 land miles, from Oakland, Cal., to the Hawaiian Islands.

Three other planes and their crews were lost in the same attempt.

The next lap of the flight to be undertaken by the "Southern Cross" on the journey to Sydney, Australia, is from Honolulu to Suva, in the Fiji Islands, a distance of 3200 miles, the longest stretch over the open ocean ever attempted.

The 'Southern Cross' took off from Oakland airport at 8:52 a. m., Pacific coast standard time, yesterday.

The ship taxied to position in front of the reviewing stand. Five thousand people cheered wildly.

Troops Necessary to Hold Back Excited Throngs In Honolulu

WHEELER FIELD, Honolulu, June 1.—Thousands of residents of Honolulu and surrounding territory flocked to Wheeler field early today to greet the "Southern Cross" upon its arrival from the mainland.

Gov. Wallace Farrington, of the Hawaiian Islands, and a group of officials of the city of Honolulu arrived at Wheeler field at 6:30 a. m. today, to await the arrival of the "Southern Cross" from California.

High army and navy officials also were on hand to greet the four airmen upon their conquest of the dangerous 2400-mile flight from the mainland.

The crowd that had been waiting since before dawn increased rapidly and two additional battalions of

[illegible] the school districts [illegible] [illegible]

Santa Ana elementary school district has voted no bonds since 1924. The [illegible] at that time. The average daily attendance in Santa Ana [illegible] schools in 1923 was [illegible] [illegible] of approximately [illegible] per cent [illegible] as we believe it will, the [illegible] to house 4382 pupils [illegible]

Where are we going to put them? [illegible] Our elementary schools [illegible] need more seating capacity [illegible] bumps on a [illegible] high school [illegible]

There has been a decided increase in junior high school and high school attendance since 1923. We have every reason to expect attendance to continue to increase. Aside from that, however, let us glance for a moment at the junior high school situation.

At present, the entire district, comprising Santa Ana, Diamond, Delhi, Greenville, Costa Mesa, Newport Beach and Balboa, is served for junior high school purposes by two plants only. One of these is the Julia Lathrop on South Main street, and the other the Frances Willard on North Main street. A fleet of motor busses, at a cost of [illegible] of dollars per month, brings pupils from the distant portions of the district to the Julia Lathrop school. That fact alone points to the [illegible] of having a school in the bay section for children of junior high school age, rather than having them transported miles away from home.

These two junior high school plants are wholly inadequate for the work they are called upon to do.

The Julia Lathrop school is crowded. It has no [illegible]. Student assemblies are held on the bleachers or in the [illegible] Gospel church across the street. The grounds are [illegible]. It is located on a site of 4.6 acres. The standard size of a junior high school site is from 10 to 15 acres. The shower and locker rooms are entirely unsatisfactory and have been roundly criticised by educational [illegible], and well they might be, for, because of lack of room, the lockers have been placed in the toilets and shower rooms.

FLYERS REACH HAWII AFTER THRILLING RACE

Kingsford-Smith was the first of the four men to step from the "Southern Cross."

"We're Not Weary"

"We're not weary," he said smilingly, as Governor Farrington and other territorial officials came forward to greet him.

"We followed the radio beacon at San Francisco for the first 400 miles," Kingsford-Smith said.

The great crowd at Wheeler field was in bedlam. It was difficult for the flyers to make themselves heard in talking with the official welcoming committee.

"After we dropped the San Francisco radio beacon we navigated by periodic compass," Kingsford Smith said.

"When we arrived in the vicinity of the islands we became confused because of the cloud formations. We thought we had sighted land several times, only to find that what we actually saw was cloud banks."

One hundred thirty gallons remained in the tanks when the "Southern Cross" ended its flight, Kingsford-Smith said.

"We're all confident that we will be ready to leave for Suva, in the Fiji Islands, on Sunday," Kingsford-Smith told Farrington.

"The plane performed splendidly and all three motors were firing perfectly clear through to the finish," the Australian war ace said.

Harry S. Lyon jr., navigator, smiled broadly as he stepped from the cockpit.

"Ah, first time I've been in the islands in 11 years."

"Were you ever in serious doubt as to your ability to make Hawaii?" Lyon was asked.

"Hell, no," he said promptly. "I was born to be hanged, not drowned."

All four flyers were in the best of spirits.

Acclaimed By Thousands

Acclaimed by cheering thousands, the four airmen were borne in triumph from Wheeler field to rest for the next hop of their long flight to Australia.

The wheels of the "Southern Cross" hardly had come to rest on Wheeler field when Captain Kingsford-Smith informed Governor Farrington that he hoped to be off Sunday on the flight to Suva, in the Fiji Islands.

Discussing the flight with Governor Farrington, who officially welcomed the crew to the Hawaiian Islands, Captain Kingsford-Smith said the most exciting period of the entire trip was during the early hours today.

At that time the plane had lost its bearings and the crew was uncertain as to the exact amount of gasoline on board.

A little before the plane swept into view over the island of Oahu, it had messaged that barely an hour's supply remained.

That the four men on board the "Southern Cross" never lost faith that the craft would make a safe landing in Honolulu was evidenced in the message sent at 9 a. m., when they were struggling to find their bearings and correct their course.

"It is about time we sighted terra firma," said a message picked up by the Mutual Wireless at 9 a. m. "Tell those destroyers we don't need them yet."

"Just banked out of clouds. We may swim yet. Tell those destroyers to stand by!" was another message that added to the general tension. This was intercepted by the Mutual station at 9:07 a. m., Hawaiian time (11:37 a. m., Pacific standard time.)

A more heartening message immediately followed, also intercepted by the Mutual station:

"Land in sight OK. We heading toward Honolulu, with Molokai on our flank."

Molokai is across the channel from Honolulu and is the island on which Ernie Smith and Emory Bronte terminated their flight in the "City of Oakland," when they ran out of fuel.

PLAYWRIGHT'S TRIAL PUT OFF TO JUNE 8

..LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Date of trial of John A. Nelson, Hollywood playwright, accused of kidnaping and branding of Jean Weston, art model, was continued again today when Nelson's attorney was unable to go on with the case because of illness. Superior Judge Douglas Edmonds set June 8 as the new date of trial.

Miss Weston charged that Nelson used a knife to cut an obscene word on her abdomen while he was holding her prisoner in his cabin.

The All-Canadian highway from Winnipeg to Vancouver via Calgary is open and in good condition, except for 91 miles between Golden and Revelstoke under construction which will not be completed this year. It is necessary to ship the car between these two points by railway, the expense being $27 for the car, $3.70 per passenger, and $3 for loading and unloading charges.

We Must Meet The Challenge

The Frances Willard school has two buildings, one put up in 1899 and the other in 1910, on grounds that measure one city block, located on the busiest street in Santa Ana, where traffic is a constant menace. It has an auditorium on the second floor, with no adequate means of escape in case of fire. While it has masonry walls, all of the inside is of inflammable materials. It's lighting is bad. The experts who made the school survey say that Frances Willard school is unsatisfactory for school use and should be abandoned.

So there we are—two junior high school buildings, neither of them what we should have.

The remedy proposed under the school bond issue is to better conditions at Julia Lathrop school materially, by providing an auditorium and shower and locker space, by remodeling the stairways so as to do away with hazardous winding stairways and by providing some additional area; to build a new junior high school between Costa Mesa and Newport Beach to take care of pupils in that section, thus relieving Julia Lathrop of over-crowding; to build a new Frances Willard junior high school to replace the plant that plainly should be abandoned.

For the high school and junior college, which are housed together, a new science building is proposed. There, too, the construction is necessary to remedy undesirable conditions in the school plant.

Better distribution of school attendance is the aim of the elementary district program. Two new buildings are planned. These will relieve crowding in other schools, in addition to taking care of children in new and growing sections. While meeting present needs, the plan is also working toward the permanent elementary school distribution. One school, the Grand Avenue, roundly condemned many times, has to be finally abandoned this year. It is to be torn down—and thank heaven for that; it hasn't been suited for school use for years. Nine schools and proposed schools are listed in the program. It will be impossible in this editorial to review the proposals for each of these schools. Careful attention has been paid to the needs of the schools, and it seems to us that there can be no question concerning the advisability of voting the elementary school bonds.

The truth of it is, of course, that all of our schools have been growing and we expect them to continue to grow.

We have faith in our schools. We have pride in them. As communities, we cannot afford to be known as backward in providing school facilities.

More than that, and of much more vital consequence than anything else, we MUST NOT allow our children to go to schools in which there are hazardous conditions.

One fire, one great tragedy—and who wants to have anything like that hanging over him or her because he or she failed to go to the polls and vote for needed school housing?

A flurry of excitement spread over the field shortly after 6:30 a. m., when a report was received that the "Southern Cross" had sent a message reporting the sighting of land.

The report was credited to the Mutual Wireless company. It later, however, was revealed that the flyers had mistaken clouds for land.

The army detachment of six planes escorted the "Southern Cross" to Wheeler field.

who resided on the property. It is estimated that a $25,000 crop is on the trees.

Twenty-five feet of property at 116 East Fourth street, Santa Ana, representing a portion of the $100,000 estate of the late J. H. Brunner, who died in 1926, was sold today for $35,000 to C. L. Cotant, vice president and manager of the Bank of Italy. Cotant resold the land and building to Dr. K. A. Loerch, who has been leasing it for a number of years.

By an act of superior court, at 10 a. m., today, a 20-year-old youth in Sweden became richer by $26,785.71 when Judge Homer G. Ames confirmed the sale of a 48-acre orange grove near Orangethorpe, to Calvin Gregg. McCain also consummated this deal. The transaction represents an undivided one-seventh interest in the property, inherited by Bror Helge Johan Hannson, of Sweden, from the Nils Jacobson estate. The entire estate, consisting of 70 acres, recently was bought by Gregg.

A 10-acre orange grove in Orange was purchased for $35,000 by Charles Pearson, of Anaheim. Jack Hinrichs, of Escondido, transferred the property, which is estimated to have at present a $10,000 crop on the trees. Edward Mills, of the Richie-Mills Packing company, announced the deal.

HIGH PRICE FOR VALENCIAS ON EASTERN MART

which spent several years in bringing about efficient production, now responds to every improved condition, it was said.

Wholesale and retail buying was termed a conservative "hand to mouth" type.

The national trend continued to mark time and the "presidential year" bugaboo is having its inning in spite of the better judgment of most business leaders, the chamber survey reported.

Citrus fruits continued on a high level. Cantaloupe shipments fast neared their peak with the price range satisfactory.

The price level on California valencia oranges remained high, but the summary indicated increasing competition from cantaloupe and deciduous fruit markets would create a fluctuating market from now on.

County Valencias High

During the third week in May, an average as high as $10.15 was realized on extra fancy valencias from Orange county on the New York market, the review said, quoting the California Fruit World.

The California lemon market was described as "on a strong and active basis, with the price at a high average."

Deciduous crops throughout the state promise to be larger than last year, with the exception of prunes and apricots, the chamber reported.

Bearing acreage of deciduous fruits in the state will be four per cent larger than last season, although table and raisin grape acreage has lessened. Juice varieties will have an increased bearing acreage of four per cent.

Delayed foliation, especially with peaches, became increasingly apparent in May. The review said the Ontario crop is placed at 50 per cent of normal.

Riverside Apricots Normal

Ventura county's apricot crop will be light, but in Riverside county prospects are normal, it was said.

Carlyle Thorpe, general manager of the California Walnut association, was quoted as saying that walnut crops prospects are between 55 and 60 per cent of last year's figure.

California daily oil production was recorded as slightly increased in May, running as high as 636,500 barrels per day as against 617,000 barrels per day in April. Increases were most noticeable in Ventura and Long Beach.

It was estimated that final tabulation for the month will show $100,000,000 in transactions on the Los Angeles stock exchange and set a new all-time record.

Bank clearings went to a new peak with $995,672,154, compared with $767,258,293 in May 1927.

Postal receipts in Los Angeles will show an increase of five per cent over May, 1927, and will run close to the million dollar mark, the review estimated. Los Angeles ranked eighth in postal receipts for April, with $889,709.84.

Building Slightly Less

Building construction during the month of May can be guaged by the summary's 1928 figure of 3152 permits, amounting to $8,941,795, as against the May, 1927 mark of 3200 permits, for a total of $11,563,303.

The month was fairly normal in the retail trade.

Water commerce through the port of Los Angeles was not quite up to that of May 1927, one of the port's heaviest months. The May, 1928 records again were in excess of 2,000,000 tons, with a value just under the $80,000,000 mark.

A WORD OF COMFORT

It is your will to prove yourself continuously worthy of the respect and the affection of the one you love the best, which will henceforth inspire and guide your decisions and efforts.

A weakened will results in irresolution and hesitancy. It is easy to become unscrupulous and ultimately vicious. No one can depend upon the spiritually anaemic.

Define your allegiance in your heart of hearts so clearly that you can never waver. Determine to be true to the ideals your beloved one would approve. Give no quarter to the impulse toward compromise. Most of life's problems and perplexities will thus be settled before the actual battle is on.

U. S. BUILDING LARGE CIVILIAN RADIO NETWORK

WASHINGTON, June 2.—With 60 new airports being established, each including a complete radio station, Uncle Sam is in the process of constructing the world's most extensive civilian radio network.

Ultimately, more than 100 transmitting and receiving stations will be in operation as an adjunct to the country's greatly expanded civil aviation program. This does not take into account the erection of hundreds of so-called radio marker beacons, to be established at 25-mile intervals along the airways.

Preparatory to the operation of this communication network, the lighthouse service of the United States department of commerce has set up a "nerve center" or headquarters for this network in a Washington office building. Radio headquarters will have contact with airports and airplanes on the transcontinental route—from Washington to San Francisco—and with all tributary airways, as fast as they are established.

A telegraph key at radio headquarters controls a 1500-watt transmitter in the naval radio station at Arlington, or Radio, Virginia. T. C. Gale, who for about eight years keyed traffic for the airmail service of the United States postoffice department, and a crew of radio operators are now handling traffic over the same transcontinental airball route for the lighthouse service.

As a starter, Congress has appropriated $460,000 for the erection and maintenance of the network of radio stations as an adjunct to civilian flying. The airways division of the lighthouse service, which has charge of the erection and maintenance of radio facilities along the civil airways, has absorbed the radio net of the postoffice department.

BOOK STORE TO MOVE QUARTERS FIRST OF YEAR

Robert Brown, owner of the Santa Ana Book Store, today disclosed plans he has for a change in his business location on the first of next year and enlargement of his stock of merchandise.

Brown has taken a 10-year lease on the store room at 208 West Fourth street now occupied by F. C. Blauer. Immediately upon getting possession he will institute alterations that will adapt the room and basement to use of his business enterprise.

While plans have not been definitely developed as yet, Brown said that in a general way he contemplates improvements in the room and the installation of new fixtures that will make his store one of the outstanding book stores in the southland. He will add a number of lines he has not been able to carry because of lack of space in his present location.

It was pointed out by friends today that Brown purchased the Santa Ana Book Store seven years ago, and that he has built up the business to the point that more room was imperative if he were to continue building up the store trade.

Brown said that he probably would utilize the basement for certain lines of merchandise he will carry, and that ground floor space available would make it possible to add lines that go hand-in-hand with his present line of merchandise.

PRESIDENTIAL VETO HOLDS UP HIGHWAY WORK

Completion of many important national highways has been unnecessarily prolonged as a result of the failure of the House of Representatives to join the Senate in overriding the presidential veto of the Colton-Oddie bill, appropriating $3,500,000 annually for the next three fiscal years for building highways through Federal lands in 11 public-land states of the west.

This statement was issued today by national headquarters of the American Automobile association in the form of notice to congress that it will continue this fight in December and that car-owners everywhere are thoroughly aroused because of the delay that failure of this bill will cause in the completion of the transcontinental highways.

Senator Oddie (R. Nev.) and Representative Colton (R. Utah) have already announced that they will re-introduce their measure as soon as Congress convenes in December and demand that the government bear its fair share of the road building burden in an area in which it owns 160,000,000 acres of non-taxable lands.

"The action of the house in sustaining the president's veto," says the national motoring body, "cannot fail to have a serious detrimental effect on the unification of our national road system since without equation of this character, the early completion of important links in main east and west highways is entirely impossible."

TO ARRAIGN JULIAN OFFICERS JUNE 10

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—S. C. Lewis, Jack Bennett and three other officials will be arraigned here June 10 on the federal indictment accusing them of misuse of the mails in connection with the operation of the Lewis Oil corporation.

Lewis and Bennett recently were acquitted of counts of conspiracy to wreck the Julian Oil corporation. Identity of the three others named in the federal indictment was not made known.

Reorganized L. A. Police Divisions Start New Duties

LOS ANGELES, June 1—With the added responsibility of enforcing vice laws in their respective districts, a dozen police division commanders started work in new quarters today.

In disbanding the old central vice squad yesterday, Chief of Police James Davis completely decentralized the method of handling such cases. His action was accompanied by the transfer of 12 captains, three lieutenant detectives and one sergeant.

Each division commander hereafter will be held accountable for conditions in his own territory. Previously the central vice squad handled all vice complaints.

The official opening and closing dates of Glacier National Park are June 15 and September 15. While there is no road through the park there are many that penetrate it some distance and these are in good condition. Several hotels are located in the park and nearby, as well as various campgrounds.

CANTANDO CLUB PLEASES BIG CROWD IN CONCERT THURSDAY NIGHT IN POLY HI AUDITORIUM

For the third time has the Cantando club—that organization of men's voices of which Santa Ana is so justly proud—scored a distinct success, and for the third time has a large audience reluctantly left the high school auditorium, its senses drugged with music after a program of such outstanding beauty as was presented last night by the club. This third concert closed the season, and so warm a response greeted the artists on this, their initial year as a singing organization, that a continuation of the Cantando club is assured, and already, ambitious plans are being made for next year's course of three concerts.

The rise of the curtain last night on nearly half a hundred men in one compact group, was fully as inspiring as it was on the opening concert last fall. In their uniform semi-formal garb, the men, standing in four tiers, rose as one man to the tap of Leon Eckles' baton.

And sang.

Any description of their music seems almost futile. It needed to be heard to be truly appreciated, and hundreds of Santa Anans appreciated that fact, for the high school auditorium has been filled to capacity at every concert. Last night's audience was a warm one, responding with enthusiasm to the stirring rhythms of Wagner's "Battle Hymn" which opened the program, and continuing responsive to every number.

Miss Ruth Armstrong's accompaniments were as sympathetic and inspirational as ever, fully justifying the title which she has won from appreciative singers, of "The Perfect Accompanist."

Well Balanced

While the program was a well-balanced one, it might be said to have favored the bassos just a trifle, for most of the numbers were those in which voices in the lower registers were particularly strong. "Battle Hymn" was followed by a beautiful rendering of Arthur Sullivan's "The Lost Chord." An instrumental trio composed of Miss Armstrong, piano, Elwood Bear, violin, and Edward Burns, 'cello, provided variety, and received enthusiastic applause for a masterly rendering of "Allegro Moderato" (opus 99) by Schubert. The musicians are rated among the best in Orange county, and their work in the Schubert number was so brilliant that they were recalled for another selection, choosing Rapff's "The Mill," a lovely liquid thing.

The chorus number of "Who Is Sylvia" was one of the finest things of the evening, and so pleased the audience that the singers were compelled to repeat it before the introduction of the guest artist, Ralph Laughlin, tenor.

Mrs. Laughlin appeared with her husband as his accompanist for the beautifully rendered group, "At Sunset" by Busch; "Awakening" by Mason, "Israfel" by King, and "The Three Comrades," by Hermann. Of these, the singer found himself more completely at home in "The Three Comrades," and it was evidently a song he loved singing, for it was given with a dramatic fervor that seemed reserved for it alone, unless the encore that he gave, "Prince Charming" be expected. For "Prince Charming" was one of his best numbers and met with the unqualified approval of the audience.

Final Number

The chorus rendering of "Einar Tamberskelver," Carl Busch's spirited setting for the Longfellow saga, was the final number before intermission, and had small solo parts beautifully sung by Robert Bradford. During the intermission, A. H. Taylor, chairman of the board of directors, came before the curtain to speak of the club's activities for next year, and ask the continued patronage of the audience. This year's plan of presenting three concerts, will be followed, and the ticket-selling campaign will be conducted in the same manner that has met with such success.

Beethoven's "Nature's Praise of God" provided a solemnly beautiful opening for the second half of the evening, and was followed by "Jack Stubbins," (Franz C. Bornschein), expressing an entirely different mood. The instrumental trio gave two delightful selections, "To the Sea," Ann Priscilla Risher's arrangement of the MacDowell composition, and "Autumn and Winter" by Glazounow.

The quaintly lovely Negro melodies were represented by Stephen C. Foster's "Camptown Races," which had a popular appeal, and the program reached a magnificent climax with its final number, "Song of the Toreador" from Bizet's "Carmen."

Robert Bradford as soloist had in the Toreador Song, a fitting number for that beautiful voice of his, while the chorus had a strange little chant which formed an occasional obbligato to his song. It was a striking thing to see the interest of the other members of the Cantando club, in the young singer, whose talent and unspoiled simplicity render him exceedingly popular.

Club Personnel

The personnel of the Cantando club singing last night in addition to Leon Eckles, whose directing ability won him applause at each appearance, and the chairman, A. H. T. Taylor, included Fred C. Rowland, vice-chairman; E. E. Heidt, secretary-treasurer; Lyle Anderson, A. J. Garroway and Frank Lansdown, directors, and W. P. Blair, L. B. Babbit, W. H. Gallienne, O. W. Householder, J. E. Lloyd, N. D. Pritchett, S. T. Russell, first tenors; J. W. Carlson, F. L. Gibbs, W. K. Hillyard, J. S. McCarty, V. E. McCollum, K. M. Taylor, D. G. Tuft, F. L. Wilde, G. H. Wilde, and C. H. Wollaston, second tenors; Robert Bradford, J. V. Connett, McKee Fisk, Warren Fletcher, P. H. Prior, E. H. Rowland, Cecil Stewart, K. H. Sutherland, Robert White, first bass, and Carl Gutzmann, D. T. Hayden, H. E. Jennings, J. A. Miller, Bruce Monroe, James Nuckolls, H. T. Richards, Hugh Runnells, W. C. Viera, L. A. Wallace, second bass.

UKULELE KING ARRESTED HERE FOR BURGLARY

Alleged to have confessed to robbing the homes of F. Vollmer, 2013 South Main street and the home of M. Hostettler, Costa Mesa, on May 29 and 30, James A. Moseley, 28, actor, of 2103 South Hill street, Los Angeles, is being held in the county jail on a burglary charge.

All of the property reported stolen to the police valued at $750, $500 worth at the Vollmer home and $250 worth from the home of Hostettler, has been recovered with the exception of a diamond Elk's pin, worth $150, stolen in the Hostettler burglary, sheriff's officers reported today.

Mosely is well known to Santa Ana theater goers. He has been booked at a local theater here several times as "Jimmy Moseley, the Ukulele King," and was declared to be one of the foremost ukulele artists in the country.

His advent into crime, according to F. W. Howard, chief criminal deputy sheriff, was due to the fact that his voice failed him. He has been at Newport Beach for the past week officers said.

Moseley's arrest was made by Newport Beach police last night after he is asserted to have checked three suitcases at a house across the street from the police station. The articles taken in the two burglaries, including women's wearing apparel, silver and jewelry, was contained in the suitcases. Officers took charge of the suitcases and waited for Moseley to return. When he came back for them, he was placed under arrest. Officers Howard and Boyd brought the prisoner here from the beach city.

Efforts were being made today to trace two other burglaries to Moseley, although he is said to have admitted entering only the two houses.

That Moseley's crime career was short lived, was evidenced by the crude manner in which the two houses were burgled, Howard said. "It was the work of a gross amateur," the officer said.

Moseley has appeared at both the West Coast-Walker and the Yost Broadway theaters here and also has been featured over the radio in Southern California. He formerly gave ukulele lessons here, it was said.

PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, June 1.—Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Brunemeier entertained Mr. and Mrs. Behrens, of Fullerton, and Mr. Henry and Miss Catherine Behrens, of Yerba Linda, at a dinner that featured Chinese dishes. Although the meal was a novelty to the guests it was not uncommon to the Brunemeiers, who have lived in China for years.

A pleasant day was spent on the lawn of the home of Mrs. Jeanette Blattner, when a group of Long Beach friends gathered there and enjoyed a picnic lunch. The afternoon was spent in playing games and after a picnic supper, the friends spent the evening at bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Ingham and three sons and Mr. and Mrs. Frand Harter and son, of Hollywood, returned to their homes Thursday, after having spent a few days at the mountain home of the Harters in Fish canyon, near Monrovia.

The Rev. C. E. Fuller, with Mrs. Fuller and son, Danny, and Mrs. Peyton, have returned to their home here, after spending several days at their mountain home at Bluff lake.

Twenty members of the Dorcas society of the Calvary church met in the club rooms of the church Thursday for a pot-luck lunch and quilting party. After lunch a time was spent at devotions and a business meeting was held. It was decided to try to get a missionary speaker for the next meeting.

North Sea Cows Produce Iodine

EMDEN, Germany, June 1.—A valuable medicinal remedy in the form of iodinized milk has been discovered by Dr. Gmelin, a physician in Wyk on Foehr Island in the North Sea.

Dr. Gmelin established the existance of from one-fourteenth to one-twenty-third of a grain of iodine in the milk of cows and sheep grazing on the islands of the German west coast. Its presence is attributed to the influence of the North Sea, noted for its emanations of large quantities of salt, radium and iodine, especially during low tide.

ALBATROSS NOT TO QUIT GOING AFTER RECORD

Sterling Price, owner and backer of the Zenith Aircraft corporation, builder of the Albatross, will not abandon efforts to gain for his plane the world's record for sustained flight, he announced today.

"We are going after the record again, but when we make the next attempt we are going to be pretty certain that the motors on the ship are good for the grind," Price said.

He explained that a representative of the Ryan Aeronautical association of San Diego, agent for the German made Sieman-Halske motors used on the ship, is expected to come here from San Diego today or tomorrow to make personal inspection of the engines. Every effort will be made to detect the cause of rocker arms crystallizing. Breaking of rocker arms has defeated the ambition of Price and his pilots every time they have gotten into the air and remained there for any length of time, according to Price.

Price would not say that he was giving consideration to a change of motors, but rumors are afloat to the effect that he will make a change unless he can be convinced that the present engines will stand up under the grind necessary to support the big craft in a flight of 54 and a half hours.

Comment was made here today on the point that the "Southern Cross" plane on its flight to Hawaii was powered with three 225 horse power motors, the plane and its load weighing 7 tons. The performance of the Albatross can be better appreciated when comparison is made with the power on the Hawaiian flight ship and the local craft. The Albatross has three 125 horsepower motors, or a little more than half the horsepower used in operating the "Southern Cross." Loaded it weighs approximately eight tons.

R. O. D. Sullivan and L. C. Sullivan, pilots of the Albatross in the flight here Wednesday, have returned to their homes in San Diego, the former returning yesterday and the latter today. Both were given furloughs from the navy for the period necessary to make the attempts here, and both will be available to Price whenever he wants to make another attempt to win the record for his ship.

TAFT WOMAN'S GARDEN UNIQUE SPOT OF COLOR

TAFT, Calif., June 1.—An inclosed garden, high-walled and screened from public view by trees and vines, is the desert-defying achievement of Mrs. C. Z. VanderHorck at her home on Kern street in Taft.

Although garden growing in Taft is a never-ending struggle with poor soil and too little rain Mrs. VanderHorck has constructed a beauty spot that is the admiration of her friends.

Using an angle of the back part of the house for two sides of the inclosure high lattices were added to form a large oblong. Over the lattices evergreen vines are trained and two huge pepper trees cast a grateful shade even on a hot day.

At the end of the garden farthest from the house is a fountain of unique and artistic design which drips a continuous small stream of water into the pool beneath. In the pool an interesting variety of ornamental fishes make their home.

Two goldfish of aldermanic proportions [illegible] reflect the sunlight as they rise lazily to the surface of the pool and a dark purple fish matches a patch of purple pansies growing on the bank.

Mrs. VanderHorck has a number of fishes of varied colorings and has recently aroused the interest of her friends by successfully raising baby fishes.

Flowers of many kinds grow around the fountain and along the sides of the inclosure. The center of the plot is paved with irregularly shaped stepping stones.

At the opposite end of the garden from the pool, [illegible] formed by the walls [illegible] Mrs. VanderHorck has [illegible] outdoor living room. Easy chairs, a porch swing, tables, and bright pillows add attractiveness as well as comfort.

Chinese red, orange and touches of vivid blue, artistically mingled, go to make up the color scheme well suited to the green setting.

Mrs. VanderHorck has added a unique note to the social life of Taft by her morning coffee parties given for her friends within the delightful cosiness of her walled garden.

Rodriguez, 1024 Port street, Anaheim, was cut about the face yesterday afternoon when the automobile in which she was riding with her father, collided with a machine driven by E. H. Westhee, 2073 Bush street, Santa Ana. [illegible] street car, according to a report filed by Rodriguez.

SMEDLEY GOES TO FRONT FOR SCHOOL BONDS

Declaring he believed that every point advanced against the proposed school bonds is based on either misinformation or ignorance of the facts involved, Ralph C. Smedley, secretary of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., called on The Register to again correct a typographical error that appeared in this paper a few weeks ago and which subsequently was corrected.

[illegible] in an interview [illegible] that the compensation of [illegible] W. E. Fogg and [illegible] C. E. Hall, [illegible] U. [illegible] is to be taken from the architects' fees in connection with buildings to be erected. Their fee, as provided in their contract with the Board of Education, is to be one-half of one percent of the contract price of any buildings constructed in accordance with the scheme adopted from their report. Eliminating the cost of new sites, estimated at about $197,000, the plan calls for the sum of $1,079,000 to be used for new structures. The experts are thus to receive $5,395 as compensation for their services, if and when the new buildings are erected." Continuing Smedley said:

"The misprint consisted in the introduction of an extra figure into the one-half of one percent total, making it read $53595 as the compensation.

[illegible] would [illegible] to correct [illegible] many people did not stop to figure it out, but jumped to the conclusion that these advisers were to be paid an exorbitant fee for their work.

"A compensation of one-half of one percent, this to be deducted from the regular architects' fees in return for the service which will be furnished in planning the buildings, seems to be extremely small pay for such a service as has been rendered the community in this survey.

"Since by the expenditure of this money, the board of education is enabled to secure information that will make possible the greatest economy and efficiency in investing the large amount required for school buildings, it seems quite the right and businesslike thing for them to do.

"My personal observation of the present campaign for the school improvements leads me to believe that practically every point advanced in opposition to the project is based either on misinformation or on ignorance of the facts involved. It would be a great pity for our people to deprive our young folks of the reasonable facilities for education as a result of ignorance and prejudice.

"A knowledge of the simple facts seems to be all that is needed, in most cases, to secure support for the bonds. Thus, the Register is in a position to do this community a great service by keeping before the people the truth about the whole matter, and you are to be commended on having done so much for the enterprise in this manner."

The usual fifty precincts comprising the Santa Ana City District have been combined into twelve polling precincts.

Sample ballots have not been sent out as is usual in the general elections, so the following consolidation of precincts comprises the polling precincts for the school bond election in Santa Ana and outlying districts of the high school district. You will not receive sample ballots, so look up your polling place on this list.

MEN HELD HERE ARE WANTED ELSEWHERE

C. J. Wheeler, charged with escaping from an officer, and William Beeken, charged with possession of intoxicating liquor, arrested by Deputy Sheriff Harry Carter, and who are being held in jail here, pending trial, also are wanted in San Bernardino, on a charge of grand theft, according to a report to the sheriff today.

The two men are wanted there on a charge of stealing two automobiles, one of which was recovered, it was said.

Wheeler and Beeken came to Santa Ana several days ago presumably to dispose of a quantity of liquor they had in their machine and were making good headway, it was said, until Beeken tried to sell Officer Carter a quart. Both men were arrested but Wheeler escaped at the time.

Wednesday, Wheeler was found in Los Angeles and arrested on a charge of escaping an officer.

Both men were arraigned here yesterday before Justice Kenneth Morrison and their cases set for June 5.

OBITUARY

Marie Anna Barthole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Barthole, was born May 22, 1908 in Wintersburg, Orange county, California, and died May 28, 1928, at Wineville, California, at the age of twenty years and six days. She is survived by her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. John Barthole and two sisters, Viola and Sophie Margart. In early childhood Marie developed an unequaled ambition for an education. She was eager to gain the best and most from her elementary schooling at the Springdale school and on finishing her eighth grade was honored as valedictorian of the 1922 class.

In the fall of that year she entered the Huntington Beach Union high school with an even more pronounced determination to reach her goal and at graduation she was again honored as valedictorian of her class of 1926.

In the fall of 1926 she entered the California College of Commerce at Long Beach pursuing the secretarial course. Owing to illness, completion of her course was three months in the distance, yet she stood as one of the highest in her class.

Her desire to seek good and do good never wavered. Her sterling character stood foremost with everyone coming in contact with her. Her patience, endurance, and loving kindness during her illness shows a Christian-like character.

Marie could not understand why she should suffer, she said, "I have never done anything wrong."

Christ leads me through no darker rooms
Than he went through before:
He that into God's kingdom comes
Must enter by this door.
She is not dead, this friend, not dead
But in the path we mortals tread,
Got some trifling steps ahead,
And nearer to the end,
So that you, too, once passed the bend,
Shall meet again, as face to face,
this friend
You fancy dead.

The transaction was completed yesterday and the property has been turned over to the new owner.

All of the oranges are 19 years old and the grove is considered one of the best in the district. It was acquired by Blakeman and Johnson six years ago. The deal was transacted through Joe Smith, local real estate operator.

Six months of the Farm bureau egg laying contest at Pomona have passed and all entrants are being led by a Rhode Island Red hen owned by E. H. Koenig of Orange. Koenig's hen has laid 162 eggs since the contest begun in November, and with this record, gains the enviable position of ninth high hen in the thirty-six egg laying contests in the United States. The leading hen of all the contests is a White Leghorn with 170 eggs to her credit. The closest competitor to Koenig's bird has 146 eggs to date. This bird is a Barred Plymouth Rock owned by the Pratt Experimental farms.

The light breeds averaged 22.7 eggs and the heavies 20.84 eggs for the month.

PLACENTIA P.-T. A. HELPS PLAYGROUND

PLACENTIA, June 1.—The executive board of the Parent-Teacher association met yesterday afternoon in the office of the Bradford street school, with all the officers except one present, Mrs. Leon Gillilan presiding.

It was determined that the P.-T. A. sponsor a summer playground for the Placentia children. The Mothers club, which has since disbanded and joined the Parent-Teacher organization, kept Miss Bielefeldt as supervisor of the school playground last summer, and thus provided a place for organized play for Placentia's children. They were assisted in the work by the Lions club, the chamber of commerce, the Round table and other organizations and individuals. Further announcements of the plans will be made later.

The next meeting of the P.-T. A. will be held in the auditorium Tuesday afternoon, June 5, at 2 p. m.

The teachers of the school are in charge of this entertainment and a good time is promised.

SHADE TREE HOST FOR BERRY VINE

Thomas Green, 191 North Center street, Orange, is preparing to harvest a blackberry crop from a vine that is rooted in the trunk of an umbrella tree. Several years ago Green noticed the vine growing in a fork of the tree and although it has been broken off several times it has continued to thrive and at present is between three and four feet in length.

The vine now appears to be a part of the tree that gives it life. It acts in every way like a vine growing in a normal manner. It dies down in the fall and comes up fresh each spring. While it shows indications of bearing, Green is not depending on the vine for his winter's supply of blackberry jam.

SCHOOL BOND MASS MEETING AT NEWPORT BEACH ENDS UP IN CITY PLANNING CONFAB

A city planning meeting of leading citizens of Newport Beach and Balboa at the Newport Beach city hall last night interfered with the called meeting of citizens for the discussion of the proposed $899,000 Santa Ana High school district bonds.

The meeting was scheduled for the Newport Beach schoolhouse at 8 o'clock. Only a few gathered, and the meeting was not called to order.

Present and prepared to present arguments against the voting of the bonds were Lew H. Wallace, Newport Beach banker, and G. C. McCloud, secretary of the harbor chamber of commerce.

Present for the conference were Dr. John D. Ball, president of the Santa Ana board of education, C. H. Barr, chairman of the bonds campaign committee, Sam Hurwitz, chairman of the speakers committee, W. C. Jerome and T. E. Stephenson, members of the advisory committee named by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, and Assistant District Attorney S. B. Kauffman.

Wallace, McCloud and other of the beach section are making a determined fight against the high school bonds and say that their section will pile up a heavy vote with them. In brief, their position is this:

They want the Newport Beach-Balboa-Costa Mesa separated from the Santa Ana High school district. Under the law as it now stands, there seems to be no legal way for separation. At the last session of the state legislature a bill proposed by Attorneys Clyde Bishop and Joe C. Burke, representing the bay interests, failed of passage, and while Santa Ana leaders have been informed that it apears impossible to secure legislative action to allow separation, Wallace, McCloud and their adherents in this matter, believe that the next legislature will pass the legislation they desire. They are asking that the high school bonds be defeated so that they can go to the legislature and secure the legislation, and, following that, secure separation from the present high school district.

Drs. Hull and Ford, the educational experts who made the survey, have publicly stated that they believe it entirely unlikely that separation legislation can be secured, but, if it is secured, the bay district can then separate and carry the new school building with it by assuming the cost of its site and construction. McCloud stated last night emphatically that the voting of the high school bonds and the building of the proposed junior high school for the Costa Mesa-Newport Beach section would complicate the situation and make separation more difficult inasmuch as a court action might be necessary to make the separation with the new building safe and legal. Wallace is of the opinion that the defeat of the bonds by reason of a heavy vote against them in the bay section will enlist the enthusiastic suport of Santa Ana in the fight to secure remedial separation legislation. He feels that if the bonds carry and Santa Ana gets the money it is asking for its Frances Willard and Julia Lathrop Junior High schools and for the high school and junior college, Santa Ana school authorities will take no interest in aiding the bay section in its effort for separation.

The attitude of the Santa Ana campaign leaders, as expressed by Dr. John D. Ball, president of the school board, today, is as follows:

"The entire Santa Ana High school district, which includes Santa Ana, Costa Mesa, Newport Beach and intervening districts, is in real need of financial action. The Julia Lathrop school is crowded and lacks facilities, and the Frances Willard school is housed in buildings declared to be unsatisfactory for school us, buildings that the experts say ought to be abandoned. The high school district, therefore, ought not allow present conditions to continue on the hope and belief of a portion of the district that separative legislation can be secured. Moreover, in the event legislation is secured, separation can be made at that time with the full consent of the Santa Ana board of education. Rather than wait a year or two years or more for action under the separation group's suggestion, the schol board is asking for action now so that conditions can be relieved, and in asking this action we certainly do not believe that we are in any way menacing or complicating the movement for separation."

COUNTY P.-T. A. WILL INSTALL ON WEDNESDAY

By MRS. NEAL BEISEL
District Press Chairman

The Fourth District, California, Congress of Parents and Teachers, will be accorded a high honor on Wednesday, June 6, when Mrs. F. O. McCulloch, retiring state president, will be present to install the incoming officers at the last executive board meeting of the present administration, which will be held in the Huntington Beach high school.

Mrs. McCulloch is one of the outstanding figures in the state, having recently been awarded the Ling medal for the greatest achievemnt during the year in the field of child welfare. She is beloved by each one of the 150,000 parent-teacher members in the state who are confident that her retirement as state president is only the door to greater opportunities in national parent-teacher service.

Mrs. James K. Lytle and Mrs. F. O. Hobbs will accompany Mrs. McCulloch. Mrs. Hobbs will speak on present home and economic conditions in Mexico, having recently returned from that place. The program will have as additional features a demonstration of how to turn in a fire call, by one of the fire wardens of Orange county. Ted Craig will address the board. The program will open promptly at 9:30 o'clock in the Huntington Beach high school. Lunch will be served by the local association for a nominal sum. All officers and chairmen are expected to be present and make a final report on the year's work.

Officers to be installed will be: Mrs. Neal Beisel, president; Mrs. Fay R. Spangler, second vice-president; Mrs. A. C. Pickering, recording secretary; Mrs. E. L. Benson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Wm. Holve, financial secretary, and Mrs. Charles Schweinfest, auditor.

OFFICERS FOR S. A. LION CLUB ARE NOMINATED

Nomination of officers to be voted on June 21 occupied the attention of members present at the meeting of the Lions club yesterday.

Nominations were as follows: W. S. Spicer, the Rev. P. F. Schrock, president; Lyle Anderson, Fred Wilde, first vice president; Franklin West, George Ash, second vice president; Rex Kennedy, C. E. Stewart, third vice president; E. M. Sundquist, secretary; Frank Miller, terasurer; Kenneth Morrison, H. R. McVey, lion tamer; F. L. Purinton, tail twister; G. K. Rogers, George Platt, J. A. George, Roy King, directors, two to be elected.

While the count of nominating ballots was being made, the Lions club quartette entertained with a group of songs it will present at the district convention to be held in San Jose next week. The quartette has been rehearsing for a couple of weeks. It has been one of the big entertainment features at state conventions in recent years.

PAPER COVERS BOOST YIELDS FROM GARDENS

Paper of the type used as a mulch in pineapple production in Hawaii has been found to be applicable also to a wide variety of crop plants in the eastern United States, according to Dr. L. H. Flint, physiologist of the United States department of agriculture, who has recently completed four years' study of the possibilities of paper mulch and its effect on plant growth. Increased yield and growth have been secured by the use of impervious-paper mulch with such common garden crops as corn, beets, carrots, green beans, squashes, and others. In many instances the yield was from one and one-half to three times as great as from unmulched crops.

The results of the experimental work are presented in Technical Bulletin 75-T, "Crop Plant Stimulation with Paper Mulch," just published by the department. On the basis of the plot tests thus far made, the use of paper mulch, says Dr. Flint, in addition to increasing yields, eliminates all weeding between rows, facilitates weeding between plants in the row, and does away with the necessity for cultivation. In certain crops further advantages reported are increased germination which results in greater yields, a marked hastening of maturity, and a superior crop product in point of size, quality and cleanliness.

The type of paper used in these trials—the heavy, asphalt-saturated and coated thermogen—was especially designed to withstand the weathering of the three to five years' duration of the pineapple plantation. It seems possible, says Dr. Flint, that a less durable paper may be cheaper and as satisfactory over a short period. The extent to which paper mulch will find a place in gardening and agriculture can be determined he says, only through wide individual experimentations. The practical use of paper mulch will depend largely on its economy as affected by the labor requirements, the markets, the particular crops concerned, and climatic conditions.

Various mulching papers are being studied by the department at the Arlington Experiment Farm and elsewhere to find a cheaper paper that will be satisfactory under varied soil and seasonal conditions.

A copy of the bulletin may be obtained by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

"ARE THESE CHILDREN WORTH IT?"

It is announced that next Tuesday there will be an election on the question of school bonds, and we have been reading of the needs, and figures, and the amounts that the tax payers must pay. It has been emphasized that for a man whose taxes are on the basis of $1,000, it would be $1.20 a year to begin with and then decrease, and that the question to be decided is money and bonds and taxes.

Do not be deceived. The question that is to be decided Tuesday is not a question of money or taxes or bonds. These are the things that sometimes appear to our eyes, and that we may touch with our fingers, but the real fact is that it is not concerning money that we decide, but concerning human beings, flesh and blood, the boys and girls of Santa Ana, of Costa Mesa and Newport Beach. The question that will be decided is whether the young people of this district are worth more than the streets on which they walk, the dirt in which they play, and the dollars that are spent for brick.

Frankly, we do not expect to have these bonds voted by either the man or woman who thinks more of a dollar than he does of a child. Some of the buildings which must be replaced have already been condemned. Our children, or if not ours, the children of our neighbors, are forced today to occupy buildings which have been condemned because of poor lighting, of poor sanitary conditions and unsafe conditions. Because the school board and the officials do not know what to do with them, they are forced to occupy these insanitary and dangerous premises.

A few years ago, in an Ohio city, a school board was confronted with the need of a new school building. Their building was inadequate; it had been declared unsafe; fire exits were not provided, but some had their eyes glued so closely to the dollar that they could not see the precious body of the child beyond, and the unexpected happened. A fearful conflagration broke out. Hundreds of school children were burned. You all read about it.

You watch the progress of your child in school. You are proud of his achievements and advancement. What is this child worth to your town as an illiterate—infected or sickly, half educated and poorly trained? What would you be willing to give for the benefits conferred on that child from his sixth to his eighteenth year?

He graduates and the school hands him back to you in full health, bright eyed, his mind and body trained as only American boys are trained, ready to do his work in the world. You are proud of him, and you are right. Is he worth what he cost?

Yes, friend, if your property is worth $10,000, it would cost you $12.00 a year to begin with, to meet the need of a growing generation. Are the children worth it, or are they not? If a vote of Santa Ana and this district declares that the children aren't worth it, there are people who wouldn't buy your property at any price. They would not want a home in such a community. If we do not meet the need and pay for it, as men and women should, we are going to pay for it in years to come, through the loss of values, the loss of the respect of the children for us and for themselves, in doctors' bills, in the failure of our children to meet the keen competition in life, and possibly even in more serious ways.

FRAMES USED TO GET BEST SEED RESULTS

Despite the manifest advantages of a hotbed or cold frame to a gardener, 95 per cent of those who grow gardens trust entirely to sowing seeds in the open ground, taking advantage of the earliest date at which the soil can be worked. This is a fairly satisfactory methods for those who are not impatient for early crops.

The disadvantage of outdoor seed sowing is the loss of plants that must be cosidered through accidents of weather. However, with a little care none of these will do more than nominal damage. The most important task is to protect the seedbed from downpours of rain which wash seeds and plants out of the ground.

This is readily provided by setting an old window screen over the seedbed of choicest plants. The screen breaks up the force of the rain so that the wash is reduced to a minimum. Other methods are to cover the seedbed with cloth, anchored by stones, bricks or other methods until germination starts. For coarse seeds these precautions are not necessary, and fortunately most of the vegetable seeds are sufficiently coarse not to need this extra care and will do excellently planted in the open and left to nature.

The main task is thorough and careful preparation of the seedbed. The chief factor is to make the soil fine, pulverizing the surface carefully so that it will come in close contact with the seed so that the seed may not trickle down among cracks between unbroken clods of earth and thus be lost. Dig deeply and pulverize thoroughly for the seedbed.

Sow in rows. The old broadcast method resulted in great waste of plants. Also, sow thinly. This saves thinning and transplanting in the case of plants whcih are to grow where the seed is planted. Thin sowing results in more robust plants. There are now hand seeding devices on sale which make the regulation of seed as it trickles into the row an easy matter. Do not sow too deeply. Cover the depth of the seed.

This is a practical and excellent rule of thumb by which to be governed.

RHODES SCHOLARS FACE COMPETITION

OXFORD, England, June 1.—The Rhodes trustees are preparing a bill for submission to Parliament, authorizing a change in the method of selecting Rhodes scholars, particularly from the United States, so as to improve their standard.

The bill would enable the Rhodes trustees to rearrange the system of choosing the scholars, not only in the United States, but also in the colonies, without reducing the aggregate number.

The plan proposed by the trustees with regard to the United States would abolish the present method of each state selecting two Rhodes scholars during a period of three years and would group the states into eight districts of six states each, each district to select four Rhodes scholars every year.

The idea is to make competition keener and thus make it possible to select a higher type of American student to carry out Cecil Rhode's ideal of international friendship.

The present basis for choosing Rhodes scholars, by college credentials, letters of recommendation, proof of athletic ability, of participation in college activities and finally a personal interview, will be left unchanged.

Greet New Chief Of New Zealand

WELLINGTON, N. The marines that were sent to the islands to maintain order have returned to New Zealand.

ROOMS CHEAP FOR FRENCH OFFICERS

PARIS, June 1.—Four cents a night for the best rooms in the house is all a French hotel keeper gets from the army when it is on the march. A law passed 42 years ago fixes one franc a person as the proper allowance and that's all that was paid recently to the keeper of a hotel near Paris, who sent in a bill of thousands of francs.

Officers directing maneuvers in this district made the hotel their headquarters and passed a night there. They gave the proprietor an order on the quartermaster for a certain number of lodgings, thanked him and left. The hotel keeper, when the army check came, threatened lawsuits and vengeance, but his lawyers showed his the code and he will welcome no more army business. If his rooms are requisitioned, however, he will have to take his military guests at 4 cents each and try to be happy about it.

IT MAY HAVE BEEN SCOTCH THRIFT—

But no matter what the cause, we are saving Automobile Owners Thousands of Dollars

WITH living costs going up—or staying at a high level—with almost every income strained to meet the seemingly limitless demands upon it, we decided that if we could refine a gasoline that would cost no more to buy—but that would cost less to use—people would soon find out this fact and use Macmillan Gasoline.

Have we succeeded in making Macmillan really a super-mileage motor fuel for modern automobiles? Well, let's see.

A man in Altadena tells us that he has used all kinds of gasoline in his Lincoln. Fourteen miles to the gallon was the highest mileage he ever obtained. Some gasolines didn't deliver even fourteen miles to the gallon.

He let his tank go bone dry, and filled with Macmillan at the Moore Service Station in Altadena. He set his speedometer back to zero and left for Santa Barbara.

When he got to Santa Barbara, his speedometer showed exactly one hundred and twenty miles. It took eight gallons of gasoline to fill his tank to the brim. His average was, therefore, fifteen miles to the gallon.

Fifteen miles to the gallon instead of fourteen—a mileage increase of over seven per cent.

What a Man from San Bernardino Says:

A man from San Bernardino tells us that on a test over a measured course, with his car officially sealed—his speed officially checked by state traffic officers, and the run observed by newspapermen, Macmillan Gasoline gave him one and two-tenths more miles to the gallon than did other gasolines.

A man from Santa Ana writes us a glowing letter—and says among other things, "On total mileage performance, I get approximately 15% more mileage with Macmillan Gasoline in my Ford Coupe than I got from the gasoline I previously used."

A man from Beverly Hills writes us, "I get sixteen miles to the gallon about town, using Macmillan Gasoline in my Packard Sedan. This I consider remarkable."

We could go on and on, quoting you evidences of the remarkable mileage qualities to be found in Macmillan Gasoline, by simply running further into the file of unsolicited letters that have come to us from delighted users of the gasoline we make.

We know that Macmillan Gasoline delivers more miles to the gallon. We purposely make it so that it will do that very thing.

Thousands of Dollars Saved Each Month

And, when you consider that motorists are now traveling from forty to fifty million miles a month on Macmillan Gasoline, you can see that the aggregate savings each month are enormous.

You may wonder how it is, in a field as intensely competitive as the gasoline business, Macmillan has mileage qualities not to be found in other good gasolines.

Well, that's a long story. But here are the high lights:

First, the crude oil from which Macmillan Gasoline is refined comes to us from the same wells in the same field—each week, each month, each year.

Therefore, with a constant supply of the same kind of oil, we know its characteristics exactly and intimately—from long experience. If we were drawing crude oil from widely scattered points, we would have many different kinds of oil to work with—and varying kinds of gasoline would result.

Secondly, by means of a unique method of distillation, Macmillan Gasoline is refined from twenty to thirty times—in the making. The ordinary process is to heat the crude oil and boil off the gasoline vapors—in one distillation.

Third, by an elaborate system of treating and filtering, we remove from the gasoline a higher percentage of the natural impurities such as sulphur, which is commonly prevalent in ordinary gasolines.

You May Use These Simple Tests:

These are simple tests that you may perform, if you'd like to check for yourself, the unusually high quality of Macmillan Gasoline. For instance, take several bottles and fill them with various kinds of gasoline. Place them in the sunlight and leave them there. You will note that Macmillan stays white and clear long after inferior gasolines lose their white color.

Another test often employed is to fill several bottles with different kinds of gasolines. Drop a strip of burnished copper in each. In inferior gasolines, the copper corrodes in a very short time. In Macmillan Gasoline, it stays bright for weeks or even months.

But these, after all, are laboratory tests. You probably will not care to make them. It is not necessary for you to do so. For we test Macmillan Gasoline almost continuously throughout the day and night—more than forty times each day.

We deliver Macmillan Gasoline in trucks painted white and kept clean. Even our drivers are uniformed in white. We spare no pains to make, keep and get Macmillan Gasoline to you, the finest gasoline possible to produce.

If you were to pay twenty dollars a gallon, you could get no finer gasoline for your car. If you were to search from coast to coast, you could find no gasoline that would give you more mileage.

In fact, we guarantee that Macmillan will give you more miles to the gallon than any gasoline you have ever used—or money back.

And that is the strongest, fairest guarantee that we know how to make.

THAT'S ONLY PLUMBER'S PAY!

Tex Rickard says he finished twenty thousand to the good after he had paid all the bills for the Mandell-McLarnin show. That's pretty fair dough, but it was about one-third of what he expected to make when he made the match.

No doubt the heat of the show was cooled by all the postponements, but it was a poor advance sale and not the weather that caused the first postponement.

Those who like to delve in reasons for this and that are of the opinion that the fight market is off and that the big heavyweight thing will be whacked also by the indifference of what were once always dependable customers.

THE SILENT BALLYHOO

Rickard's method of approach to this heavyweight thing is very unusual. Jumping into June the actual date and place where Eugene Tunney is to meet Thomas Heeney had not been announced. Last winter, when he was giving Tunney arguments against two fights, Rickard said it took him six months to steam up a big show, but from all indications he expects to do this one in six weeks.

No one seems to be unduly worried but Heeney. The New Zealander has a verbal promise that he will get the short end of some kind of a purse. But Tunney has the dough whether he fights or not. And then to further discomfort Heeney, Jack Sharkey has been yelling around Boston that he's going to get the shot at Tunney and that Heeney already has been given the air.

If the fight is a terrible bust as a financial affair Tunney can have the chance to blame it upon the promotion. He will not accept the blame himself even if it can be proved to him that he can't draw without Dempsey.

DOOMED FROM START

If there was any legitimate surprise in the promotion of Rogers Hornsby to the management of the Boston Braves the surprise was that the owners waited so long to make the change.

When Hornsby was fired away from the Giants to the Braves it was a cinch that Jack Slattery would be deposed as a stroke of economy, if nothing else.

The Braves weren't getting any place with a $20,000-a-year playing manager, so they sent Dave Bancroft along to Brooklyn and replaced him with a cheaper workman from Boston College. It was figured that no manager could do very much with the Braves and that very little dough should be spent for having it done.

When Hornsby came along the club found itself with a $42,000-a-year player who had also proved himself quite a manager, and under these circumstances what further need of Slattery was there? Or what chance did unfortunate Slattery stand with the celebrated and highly advertised Rogers?

CARRIGAN'S DIRTY TRICK

The owners of the Braves, instead of Slattery, deserve sympathy if the tender-hearts have any to give away. Slattery, no doubt, can realize on his one-year contract, and he would have lasted only a year anyway. The Braves won't go any farther with Hornsby, and the Rajah will be blamed doubly.

The Brave owners thought they had a fine break in getting Hornsby. He would be a profit at the gate even if he did not make a first division team out of the club, but now it looks like a total loss.

All on account of the Red Sox. Judge Fuchs and the other Brave owner must feel that Bill Carrigan picked one fine time to bring the Sox to life.

STARS HOPE TO HOLD LEAD IN PENNANT RACE

ORANGE COUNTY NIGHT LEAGUE

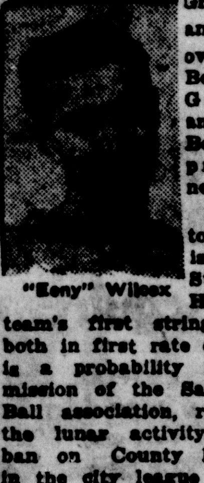
Santa Ana	3	0	1.000
Anaheim	2	1	.667
Olive	2	1	.667
Huntington Beach	2	1	.667
Garden Grove	2	1	.667
Orange	1	2	.333
La Habra	0	3	.000
Fullerton	0	3	.000

Santa Ana's shooting Stars, aiming at a third consecutive Orange county night baseball championship, will try to cut some more tough mustard this eve when, at the Sixth and Olive street "Bowl," they battle the powerful Olive pastimers. Gametime is 8 o'clock.

Having disposed of Huntington Beach, Fullerton and Garden Grove in order in past weeks, Santa Ana remains at present the one and only undefeated city in the circuit but encounters perhaps its most dangerous obstacle in Olive.

Strong pitching and powerful slugging has made Olive an unexpected contender in the 1928 campaign. If the Wilcox-Snow creation gets by the visitors tonight, they need then only fear Anaheim, it is believed.

While Santa Ana and Olive are having at it here, Anaheim will be playing host to La Habra, Fullerton will entertain Garden Grove and Orange will look over Huntington Beach. Anaheim, Garden Grove and Huntington Beach look like probable winners.



"Eeny" Wilcox

Just who will toil for the Stars is problematical. Stockbridge and Hitt, the home team's first string pitchers, are both in first rate condition. There is a probability that the commission of the Santa Ana Night Ball association, ruling board of the lunar activity, will lift its ban on County league players in the city league and if this is done, Hitt probably will do the majority of the gunning for the home side this summer.

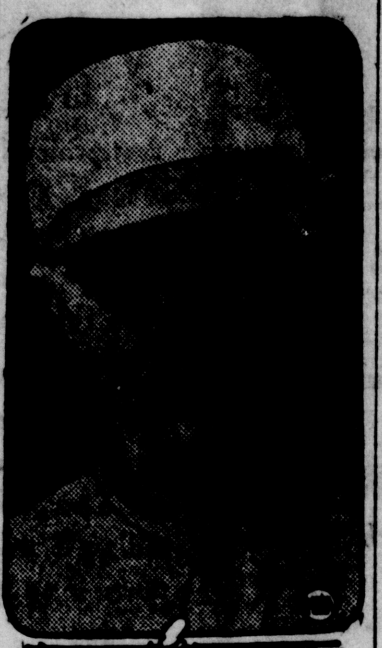
"Eeny" Wilcox will catch and Bill Cole, George Preble, Merle Youel and "Memphy" Hill are likely infield starters. Randolph Bell, Orville Schuchardt and Wayne Nelson are expected to draw the outfield nominations.

Outfielder Rose Dropped By Bells

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Ed Rose, outfielder of the Missions, has been turned over to Des Moines in the Western league. Rose hit .334 in 182 games for the Bells last year.

HE'S THROUGH

Bennie Oosterbaan is through at Michigan but he'll never be forgotten. This Wolverine star of three sports for the past three years will become another Ann Arbor graduate in a few days—and you can bet that many Big Ten schools, while admitting Bennie is a nice boy and all that, is glad he's through. An All-America football end and a nice basketball player, Michigan's star athlete ended his collegiate career as a valuable member of the Big Ten baseball champions.



YANKS OFF ON TOUR OF WEST WITH BIG LEAD

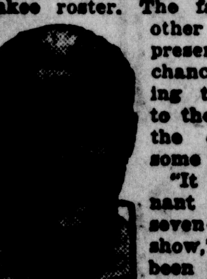
BY FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, June 1.—The New York Yankees are off on their first invasion of the West, leading the American league parade by a margin of seven and one-half games over their nearest rivals.

Miller Higgins' men have only to maintain an even pace, winning as many games as they lose to be assured of their third successive championship.

"As the Babe goes, so go the Yankees," they say of the world's champions, and none can deny that Ruth is going like a house afire.

There is some dissatisfaction among followers of American league teams over the preponderance of strength gathered on the Yankee roster. The fact that no other club at present has a chance of beating the Yankees to the pennant is the occasion of some grumbling.



RUTH

"It isn't a pennant race. It's a seven-tailed side show," it has been said of the American league parade.

Do not imagine, however, that Colonel Jake Ruppert's rival magnates are displeased to have the Yankees come a-visiting. Gate receipts reflect the popularity of the world's champions and George Herman Ruth, and gate receipts are the causus baseballi.

In their swing through the West the Yanks will draw more dollars into the coffers of the clubs they visit than the three other teams put together. The net profits of a visit by the world's champions make many a magnate forget the scoreboard.

U. S. TENNIS TEAM OPPOSES JAPANESE

CHICAGO, June 1.—The final round of the American zone Davis cup matches opened here today, with the the United States and Japan contesting for the right to participate in the European competition.

William T. Tilden, II, captain of the Americans, took the court today against Tamio Abe, young Japanese star, in the first singles game. The matches will be played on the Chicago Town and Tennis club courts.

Clisby Knocks Out Alexander In 8th

PASADENA, June 1.—Neil Clisby, Riverside, scored a technical knockout over Vic Alexander, Los Angeles, in the eighth round of a scheduled 10-round bout when the Negroes met at Pasadena last night.

AUTO CLUBMEN SUFFER FIRST TWILIGHT LOSS

In the Santa Ana Twilight league season's most dramatic upset, the Shell Oil company yesterday snapped its fingers under the nose of the Auto Club of Orange County and subjected the haughty pace-setters to their first and only defeat of the year. The score was 14 to 13.

Earl Jones, on the pitching end of the Auto Club's battery, was hit long, hard and often. His defense bogged down a bit, too, and Jones' wildness didn't particularly aid the panicky leaders.

The affair started off according to Hoyle with the Auto club driving in a pair of runs in the first round and the "Yankees" remained out in front until the third when, without previous warning, the Royal Dutchman fell all over the weakening "Oil" Jones. Beattie banged a homer to right with two on base and in the general disorder that followed the Shells made six runs.

The Auto Club settled down grimly to the task of overcoming this lad in their part of their fourth and on hits by Jones, Coffelt, Poston and Lane and a base on balls and an error got back four of these counters, leaving the score 6 to 6.

Not to be denied, the Shells rallied again in their half of the inning and rang the bell four times, largely on errors and timely hits by Hixon and Miller.

The Auto Club picked up two of these in the sixth which the Royal Dutchmen more than matched with a four-run rally in the last part of the chukker, Roehm, Beattie and Hayden all connecting for extra base knocks.

With their backs to the wall and the count 14 to 8 against them, the league-leaders tried desperately to yank the thing out of the fire but their game rally fell one run short.

The Register and the City Hall play tonight, winding up the first round of the season.

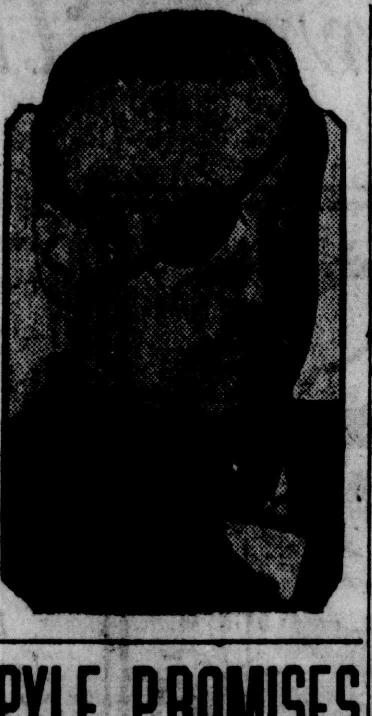
DOESN'T SEEK OLYMPIC BERTH

Although Ross of Yale is one of the best 440 men in the country and stands a good chance of going to Amsterdam as an Olympic squad member, he's not going to try for the squad. He prefers to go to Europe this summer with the Yale Glee club.

SAYS HE'LL PAY

"I'll have the money" says C. C. ("Cash and Carry") Pyle grimly and lets it go at that. Some think the promoter is having trouble raising the prize money for the winners of his cross-country "Bunion Derby" but Pyle says he'll pay and pay and pay—tonight! Why "Cash and Carry" is wearing his eye in a sling, as above, is nobody's business.



PYLE PROMISES TO PAY BUNION STARS TONIGHT

NEW YORK, June 1.—Promising to have $48,500 in cash today to pay the ten winners of the cross-country marathon, C. C. Pyle was determined to keep the public guessing to the very last minute as to whether he is on the verge of bankruptcy or is merely using his financial status to ballyhoo his 26-hour relay races starting in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Pyle was supposed to have placed the prize money in the hands of Tex Rickard yesterday, but failed to do so, claiming he failed to get it transferred from a California to a New York bank in time.

"I'll have the money," Pyle said, "and in greenbacks—today."

Twenty teams composed of the 40 best runners in the cross-country race will start on the first 26 hour relay race at 9 p. m. tonight and will run continuously until 11 p. m. Saturday.

CALLAHAN FAVORED AT LEGION TONIGHT

HOLLYWOOD, June 1.—Mushy Calahan, whose recent comeback has made him a formidable possessor of the world's junior welterweight championship, will meet Jimmy Cottrell in a non-title bout at Hollywood Legion stadium tonight.

After fighting several very poor bouts, and encountering defeat, Callahan hit his stride again when he fought Dick Hoppe recently.

Going at top speed and back in good health again, Callahan will be difficult for the boy from the Northwest. Mushy has regained his punch, his speed and the class that made him a champion.

ICEMEN DEFEAT KINSLOW TEAM IN WILD GAME

Plenty of hitting, fielding and base-running, to say nothing of a quantity of boots and bobbles, enlivened the third game of the Santa Ana Night Baseball league's season at the Bowl last evening. The Santa Ana Commercial company won this affray, which was both good and bad, from Kinslow's Machine shop, 15 to 14.

The Commercial company, spotted to a five-run lead in the first frame on an error, two bases on balls, a double by Jerry Heard and a home run by "Flash" Urbine, was never headed although the Mechanics were dangerous all the time and even had the tying run on the bases with only one dead in the last of theninth.

Holmes started flinging for the Kinslows and was both wild and ineffective. After four wild innings he retired in favor of a youngster, Gordon, who pitched some real ball after beginning unsteadily.

Heard, a southpaw, went the full way for the Ice-Makers. The Kinslows scored on him in every inning except the second, fourth and fifth but couldn't bunch their swats like the Commercials.

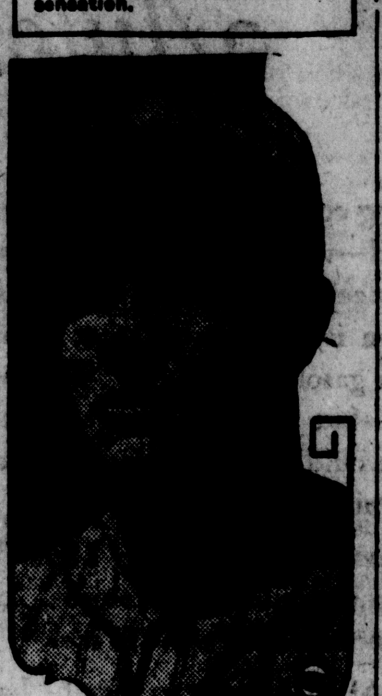
SOME YOUNGSTER

Given a chance for regular work when Harper was traded to St. Louis, Melvin Ott, 19-year-old Giant rookie, promises to become one of the best ball players in the league. Ott can bat, play the infield and outfield, catch and hit. McGraw has had him on the bench for several years and has always said that when the seasoning process had been finished he would send the youngster out as a sensation.



JULIA LATHROP BEATS WILLARD BASEBALL TEAM

Julia C. Lathrop Junior high school won the first game of the "Big Series" between the two local Junior high schools when it turned in a 10 to 5 victory over the Frances E. Willard first team yesterday afternoon.

The Lathrop boys got off to a good start and did considerable hitting during the first five innings, but Kneeland, the Willard pitcher, began to tighten up during the last four innings and didn't permit the Spartans many hits.

Pague started on the mound for Julia C. Lathrop and hurled well for the seven innings that he worked. Dallas Reichstein worked

FULLERTON NOT TO BE MEMBER OF COAST LOOP

Santa Ana high school will open its 1928 Coast Preparatory league football schedule on Saturday afternoon, October 13, and as in past years the Saints will meet the Long Beach Jackrabbits. The 1928 opener will be played at Long Beach.

Meeting at Whittier for the last time until fall, representatives of schools in the Coast Prep league officially adopted their football schedule for next season yesterday and agreed that the usual lineup of schools, Santa Ana, Pasadena, Long Beach, San Diego, South Pasadena, Alhambra, Whittier and Glendale, will remain the same as in past years.

The subject of Fullerton entering the circuit was not even discussed. Fullerton recently was given permission to leave the little Orange County league and affiliate with the Coast Prep loop but the larger circuit is already large enough and there was no place for Fullerton unless—as some frankly hoped—San Diego resigned.

San Diego, asked as to its plans before the schedule problem was undertaken, stated that it was perfectly satisfied to stay in the confederacy, however, and that left no vacancy for Fullerton.

Santa Ana's league schedule follows.

October 13—Santa Ana at Long Beach; October 20—Whittier at Santa Ana; October 27—bye; November 3—Santa Ana at South Pasadena; November 12—Santa Ana at Glendale; November 17—Pasadena at Santa Ana; November 24—Santa Ana at Alhambra; November 29—San Diego at Santa Ana.

The first real test of the United States' Davis cup strength comes today in the meeting with the Japanese at Chicago.

Such opposition as was offered by the Mexicans and Chinese in the earlier rounds of American zone play was not calculated to prove the mettle of "Big Bill" Tilden and his youthful satellites.

The Japanese will provide a serious obstacle to the further advance of the American team, if, indeed, they do not put Tilden, Hennessey and company entirely out of the running.

Matches starting today in Chicago are the finals of the American zone, the winners going abroad for the inter-zone finals and a chance to meet the French at Paris.

It is fortunate for the United States that the Japanese team is not the experienced one which swept through to the challenge round in 1921. Tilden and Billy Johnston were just about in their prime in that year, and they swept the Japanese right back to Tokio, winning five straight matches at Forest Hills. But it is doubtful if the present American team could do so.

• • • • •

The Japanese in those days played a game very much like that of Rene LaCoste, steady, deliberate, persistent. Their aim was to wear down their opponents and profit by errors. As for themselves, they seldom erred, and were tireless.

Japan never has reached the challenge round since, and the quality of Japanese tennis has changed somewhat. The members of the present team play a faster, more brilliant game; one that possibly lacks something in steadiness. Given a capable doubles partner, the Bill Tilden of old could beat them singlehanded in Davis cup competition.

The Tilden of old no longer rages across the courts, however. Bill now has to conserve his strength, or take a licking as he did at Germantown.

The forthcoming matches will provide a splendid test of the quality of Hennessey's game. The youngster from Indianapolis has done well thus far, and bids fair to become a worthy successor to Tilden, Johnston, Dick Williams and Vinnie Richards when the last of the old guard passes on.

• • • • •

This year's Japanese Davis cup team represents the best of the younger element from the tennis courts of the Land of the Rising Sun. Like ourselves, Japan has been building for the future, conceding the greatness of the French at the moment. The Japanese started some years ago to encourage their younger stars, however, while this is the first season that any of the American boys has been given a real chance in international competition.

The "Old Guard" of American tennis fought hard before it would give up his right to places on the Davis cup team. Billy Johnston, popular little Californian, was kept on a year too long. So was R. Norris William of the Philadelphia tennis clique, who was merely ornamental.

When we find, as we did for the matches with the Chinese last week, a 16-year-old school boy named for the United States team, then there is ground for hope that the tennis powers that be at last have awakened to the necessity of planning for some years ahead.

No one is going to take the Davis cup from France this year, and we all might just as well make up our minds on that subject.

Birthday Party Given Goodchild

LA HABRA, June 1.—On entering his home Tuesday evening after having been purposely detained at the shop by his father, Melvin Goodchild stood astonished to find a close group of friends had been bidden in to help him celebrate his sixteenth birthday.

A lovely birthday dinner had been prepared and was in readiness. Pink carnations added a festive note to the table decorations as well as the birthday cake and the number of gifts lied up at the honoree's plate.

Seated around the table were Miss Mildred Crebs, of Fullerton; Miss Clara Ipson, of Placentia; Bob Chaffey, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goodchild and son Billy.

TRANS-PACIFIC CRAFT TO DROP BOTTLED NOTES

NEWPORT BEACH, June 1.—Wherever you may be, in any land or clime, don't spurn that little bottle which floats upon the brine.

It may be worth $10 in lawful currency of the United States, when duly forwarded to the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, Balboa, California.

Twelve bottles are to be dropped from the Pandora, one of the six yachts entered in the Newport to Honolulu race, which starts from off the Balboa pier at 12 noon Sunday. One bottle will be dropped at noon daily, with a note giving the date and the longitude and latitude. It will also contain a written order for $10 on condition that the finder send it to the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, with data as to location, date and other circumstances.

This is expected to provide valuable information as to ocean currents in the route of the big yacht race, which is the longest annual yacht race in the world and for the first time will be from Newport Harbor to Honolulu.

The six yachts entered to date are the Pandora, owned by H. W. Rohl of Los Angeles, the Talayha, owned by Lazard Lippman of Los Angeles; the Wetona, owned by Charles L. Reynolds of the Newport Harbor Yacht club; the Aafje, owned by Commodore R. E. Millsap of the Los Angeles Yacht club; the Teva, owned by Clem Stose of San Diego, and the Mollilou, owned by Milton Hesselberger, of the Catalina Island Yacht club.

NEW YORK, June 1.—A 3 to 1 favorite, Tommy Loughran, the light heavyweight champion will meet Pete Latzo, former welterweight champion in a 15-round title bout, weather permitting, at Ebbetts field, Brooklyn, tonight.

The bout was postponed from last Wednesday night because of rain.

Both fighters will be required to weigh in again this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Loughran weighed 175, Latzo 169½ when they weighed in Wednesday.

Plan Mile Long Bridge In Venice

VENICE, June 1.—Venice, city of canals, plans to build a bridge that will connect with the mainland, more than a mile away. At present Venice is connected with the land only by a railroad bridge built seventy-five years ago.

The new bridge will probably cost more than $5,000,000. It will permit tourists and motorists to drive right into Venice, but it will be impossible to drive to the heart of the city, because Venice is composed of some 200 small islands, linked by bridges connected by extremely narrow streets.

Some opposition has arisen to the new project from the die-hards" who say that the introduction of automobiles into the city of canals and lagoons will change the old world-famous aspect of Venice.

Hundreds of Venetians have never seen an automobile.

Teacher Whipped By Irate Mother

LAFAYETTE, Ga., June 1—An irate mother who whipped a school teacher is under a 12 months' suspended sentence on the chain gang.

Mrs. J. W. Groce pleaded guilty to an assault charge, for an attack on Miss Bertha Harp, Chickamauga school mistress last year. The whipping occurred on the street after Miss Harp had punished the Groce boy for a school-room infraction. A long switch was used by Mrs. Groce. When this was broken she used a club, according to the victim.

J. C. SWIMMERS CLASH IN POLY PLUNGE TESTS

Five Southern California junior colleges have filed entries with Bill Cook, Santa Ana coach, for the annual conference swimming meet that is to be held here tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the high school plunge.

Santa Ana will be host to about 27 athletes competing in the meet for the junior college swimming championship of the Southland.

Fullerton is sending the largest team, numbering 12 athletes. San Bernardino with 4, Riverside with 7, Pasadena with 3 and Santa Ana with one, are the other colleges that are entered.

Blanchard Beatty, of Newport Beach, is the "one man" team that will represent Santa Ana, Coach Cook announced. He is to enter the 50-yard dash and the diving events in which he is quite expert.

Events that are scheduled for the meet include the 50-yard, 100-yard, 200-yard and 440-yard free style, the 100-yard breast stroke, the 100-yard back stroke, the relay and the diving competition.

Olympic Cards To Total 40 Rounds

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—With the approval of State Athletic Commissioner Jim Woods, the Olympic auditorium today planned to increase its boxing shows to 40 rounds.

In the past the limit has been 36 rounds. Woods also tossed out a rule relating to the introduction of boxers under their legal names. The Olympic had been fined twice for printing fighters' ring names on programs.

Referees, Wood decided, will be paid on a basis of the "gate" as are main event fighters.

Students To Wear Straws In Italy

ROME, June 1.—The wearing of straw hats made of Tuscan straw has been rendered obligatory for all university students, by Signor Augusto Turati, secretary of the Fascist party.

The order is part of the national campaign started to promote the general wearing of Italian-made straw hats in order to help the industry, which for one reason or another has recently fallen on bad times.

"The University Straw hat" has been designed in one type for all the colleges of Italy, but the various universities will wear individual ribbons round the crown with the college colors, and a badge indicating the city of the student's university.

SANTA ANA SCHOOL CHILDREN WILL PARADE ON MONDAY IN SUPPORT OF BIG BOND ISSUE

Elaborate plans are under way by various student organizations in the Santa Ana city school system for a big parade to be staged Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in support of the $1,276,000 school bond issue, to be voted on the following day, Tuesday, June 5.

According to Walter L. Scott, supervisor of physical education, Santa Ana city schools, in charge of the parade arrangements, the theme of the campaign slogan "Bonds or Vagabonds" will be carried out in the procession with the aid of cleverly designed floats and odd-looking marching units, arranged to supply an atmosphere of contrasts.

Following a meeting held yesterday afternoon at the high school, at which the parade plans were discussed, it was decided to stage the event in the afternoon, after the close of school, instead of in the evening, as previously announced. Such a change, it was explained by several teachers, would meet with the approval of the parents.

Marching units will assemble at the high school grounds at 2:45 o'clock, Monday afternoon, and be assigned to their respective places in the processions. Preceded by motor-cycle officers, the parade will move at 3 o'clock sharp north on Van Ness street to Fourth street, and thence east to French through the main part of the business section.

Arriving at the intersection of Fourth and French streets, the procession will break up into five distinct sections, taking different routes, and disbanding at given points. This arrangement was made to enable a greater portion of the city to be covered by the parade as well as to lessen the marching distance for the smaller children.

Following are the different units, including all schools, participating in the parade, arranged by sections:

High school and junior college section—band, high school girls, football team, athletic groups, high school boys, junior college students.

Northern section—Lincoln school, Jefferson, and Frances E. Willard junior high.

GOLDEN BANTAM CORN BEST FOR SMALL GARDEN

Corn planting is a movable feast intimately connected with the oak leaf and the squirrel's ear. should be planted when the unfold-

The ancient dictum is that corning leaf of the oak attains the size of a squirrel's ear. This is a late spring all over the country and the oaks over wide stretches of the country have been very late in showing any symptoms of developing leaves of any size whatever.

It is not an infallible sign by any means and not one to be followed too closely. The time for corn planting is when the weather is so war mthat it seems reasonably certain there will be no more heavy frosts. Over wide stretches of the country the first two weeks in May are corn-planting time under anywhere near normal conditions.

Over the greater part of the country adventurous gardeners put in a planting of sweet corn the first week in May if the soil is workable. In most cases they get away with their daring and reap and early crop. If a cold snap sets in and ruins the crop not much is lost as it can be replanted easily.

Warm, rich soil with plenty of moisture is the main necessity for corn. It does not like soggy soil so a well-drained patch is the best situation for it. Sweet corn that is sweet is a garden luxury that cannot be bought in the market and should be grown in the home garden whenever there is sufficient room for it. A space 25 by 25 feet is about the minimum for a corn planting that wield results to justify the planting.

There is only one corn for the small garden, Golden Bantam, the best corn for quality and early yield and easy growth of the entire list. Some of the newer corns are rivaling Golden Bantam, but they have not been sufficiently well tried and distributed so far to make any impression on the golden nuggets of sugar that every gardener wants.

Duke Keeps Hunt Trophy On Autos

LONDON, June 1—The lion mascot carried on the radiator of each of the motorcars owned by the Duke of York has a special significance. It is an exact replica of a beast killed by the Duke while hunting near Nairobi, and the cartridge that brought the lion down was the last in the Duke's rifle.

The Duke, momentarily without the services of the gun which usually covers him while lion hunting, had started back to meet his native gun carrier when a lion appeared about 25 yards away and crouched to spring. The Duke fired his last cartridge and the king of the jungle dropped in his tracks. The skin and head of the lion were sent to London on the Duke's order, and the model was made here.

At the beginning of the year there were 9,220 telephone companies, and over 45,000 rural lines, in the United States giving service to 18,523,000 telephones.

Day, the president for the past year, presented beautiful baskets of flowers to Mrs. H. T. Keele and Mrs. C. C. Arrowsmith, the vice president and secretary, in recognition of their helpfulness during the past year. In behalf of the members of the P.-T. A. Arrowsmith, recording secretary; Mrs. Fred Reafsnyder, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. A. Knapp, treasurer; W. W. Wieman, parliamentarian; Mrs. William Dales, historian.

After the installation the meeting adjourned to the dining room of the Cafeteria and enjoyed refreshments of cake and punch. The second objective is to aid the school administration [illegible] the problem of [illegible] ance with the present available facilities. It was pointed out that the class to enter next September is more than twice the size of the class to graduate this June.

At the recent state convention of the P.-T. A. held in Santa Cruz the work in Orange county and in Garden Grove was several times commended. Garden Grove was further honored in that Mrs. Kelsey was recently chosen fourth vice president of the state organization.

Brea Men Leave For Convention

BREA, June 1.—Sydney Potter, accompanied by Waldo Minor, L. A. Hogue and Ralph Nicodemus left Wednesday morning for Placerville to attend the Masonic convention now in session there. In their red shirts, blue overalls and boots they looked the part of true "49-ers" the spirit of which is being featured in the big pageant being given by the Masons.

The Brea party expect to return the first of the week and are planning on getting in a day or two of fishing while away.

SEEK SUBWAY FOR CROSSING AT NORTHAM

FULLERTON, June 1.—A campaign is to be put underway at once by the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce to eliminate the dangerous railroad crossing at Northam station where more than half a score of victims have been claimed during the past few years and one victim during the past week. This action was taken by the board of directors at their weekly meeting at McFarland's cafe, yesterday.

The directors of the chamber of commerce went on record as favoring more effective safeguarding of the lives of motorists at the crossing. A subway or some other effective means was recommended.

A communication was ordered sent to the county board of supervisors by the president and secretary of the chamber, advising the county board of the action of the local chamber and asking for cooperation. Communications will also be sent to the various chambers of commerce in northern Orange county, enlisting support for the campaign.

Preliminary plans for a joint meeting of all chambers of commerce in this district with the county board of supervisors were made. This meeting will be held within the next two weeks.

A general discussion of the two-hour parking ordinance was engaged in by the directors, and a more general observance of the ordinance and the marks for parking was urged.

H. H. Williams, local Pacific Electric agent, reported the results of the increased service and schedule of the car line. He declared that the patronage of this service had exceeded his expectations, more than 400 passengers benig carried on this line last Sunday alone, with good crowds on other days. He explained that the running time between here and Los Angeles will be improved and that the schedule will be changed slightly to convenience the patrons.

Plans for developing the new drinking water on the Bastanchury ranch were disclosed by Gaston Bastanchury. He stated that a large bottling plant is planned on the ranch which will make [illegible] spot in this section. Roads will be built through the ranch and the product will be advertised extensively, he declared. Already $[illegible] has been spent on the development of the project, Bastanchury declared.

Art Exhibit At Laguna Is Open

LAGUNA BEACH, June 1.—One of the finest exhibits of paintings ever shown in the Laguna Beach Art gallery is the one which was opened to the public this week, it is claimed by competent critics. The work of many who have won world recognition are prominent in the exhibit.

Among the artists whose work has attained prominence elsewhere are Nicolai Fechin, Russian painter; Elmer Schofield, English artist; Gardner Symons, William Wendt, Gordon Coutts, Edgar Payne, John Hubbard Rich, Arthur Hill Gilbert, Norman Chamberlain.

A reception to which the general public is invited will be held at the gallery this evening to celebrate the hanging of the early summer exhibit. Light refreshments will be served.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS TO BE DISCUSSED AT MASS MEETING IN LAGUNA BEACH TOMORROW

LAGUNA BEACH, June 1.—Proposal to pave Park street, leading to the school house, has caused the school trustees to call a mass meeting of residents, tomorrow evening, to discuss the matter and to instruct the board as to procedure.

The paving of Park street is a part of a program being promoted chiefly by N. E. West in which Short street, Beach street, First and Central streets, Laguna avenue, Ocean avenue and an unnamed street are parts. Short street also borders on school property.

While the advisability of having Park street widened and paved is admitted by the school board, they do not wish to take the full responsibility without the consent of the taxpayers.

The specifications named in the petition on which signatures are secured require six-inch cement concrete pavement, according to West. Park street is to be widened to give 36 feet between curbs, with six-foot walks and a four-foot parking. The street at present is oiled, with only oiled gutters, and without walks. Widening would add about three and one-half feet to each side. School children are at present compelled to walk in the street. The school directors petitioned the city council several months ago for construction of walks.

The opinion has been expressed that the extension of a street east and west to be paved, would relieve traffic now coming from the school to the boulevard, and make it unnecessary for the school children to go into town and be subjected to the dangers of the highway. It is possible that this may be brought before the mass meeting as a suggestion, it is said.

Mistreated Animals To Get Aid

LAGUNA BEACH, June 1.—Theodore Doering, vice-president of the Laguna Beach Humane Society, recently organized, was made active officer in charge of animals at a meeting held early this week. His duty will be to investigate reports of animals being mistreated or to take charge of abused or injured ones.

The society has about 40 members now, it is reported. A meeting of the general membership is called for Wednesday, June 6, in the Chamber of Commerce building. Much interest has been evinced in the formation of the society, it is said, and a number of out-of-town members have joined.

LAGUNA BEACH, June 1.—Fourteen women of the Woman's Relief Corps, with six children, observed Memorial day by placing 65 bouquets of flowers in the ocean, depositing them from the end of the pier. Simple services were also a part of the ceremony. This was the only formal observance of the day here.

SEAL BEACH, June 1.—Graduation exercises for the members of the eighth grade of the Seal Beach grammar school will occur Thursday evening, June 7, at the school auditorium.

The Rev. George Taubman of the First Christian church, Long Beach, will deliver the address of the evening.

The school play, "That's One on Bill," will be presented Wednesday evening, June 6.

This year's graduation class is the largest in the record of the school.

BEACH PLAYERS WILL PRESENT 'ROBIN HOOD'

LAGUNA BEACH, June 1.—Reorganization of the Little Art theater, recently merged with the Community club and given the name of Community Players, is under way as a separate entity. It is expected that "Robin Hood" will be a mid-summer production, with Hallam Cooley cast in the leading part. Wayne Moore, previously director of the Little Art theater, is to direct productions. "Robin Hood" is to be given as an outdoor play in the pageant theater in the eucalyptus grove in the canyon at the edge of town.

Those who are identified with the new organization are William A. Griffith, Miss Isobel Hollister, Mr. and Mrs. Hallam Cooley, Miss Anna Hills, Wayne Moore, William Wendt, Mrs. Levi Giddings, Frederick Schwankovsky, George Ewing, Mrs. Ella Goodrich, Mrs. Ida Randall Bolles, and Antony Anderson.

Funds Raised To Buy Equipment For Life Saving

LAGUNA BEACH, June 1.—More than half of the required $250 estimated as necessary to purchase equipment for the life saving work and beach safety was reported in hand or promised when the committee headed by Mrs. Joseph R. Jahraus reported on Wednesday. Those on the committee are Mrs. Jahraus, William W. Diddell, Van Essa McDowell, George E. Thompson, Mrs. C. C. Cravath, Miss Edith Hounsel.

Classes in life saving are to be held July 2 to 13, and an effort to register those who will take the course is being made. The local branch of the Red Cross will finance the lessons, but the equipment to be used in beach protection is to be paid for by funds being solicited by the special committee.

Will Open Bids On Wintersburg School June 16

WINTERSBURG, June 1.—The plans for the proposed new modern kindergarten building which the Oceanview school district is to build this summer have been accepted from Fay R. Spangler, Santa Ana architect, and bids on the building will be opened on June 16, advertising for bids having commenced Friday of this week. The new building will cost around $8000.

Trustees of the school will hold another meeting Monday evening at which time they will probably decide on teachers to fill vacancies on the faculty board of the Oceanview school.

The graduates of the Oceanview school are busy with preparations of the commencement program which is to include the play, "Gallagher," which will be given next Wednesday evening with the usual commencement program to be held Friday evening. The Rev. J. G. Hurst of the Christian church of Huntington Beach is to be the speaker of the evening while "Farewell Words," will be given by Orpha DeBusk and the class prophesy by Ramona Moore.

CROMER INSTALLED AS HEAD OF LIONS

ANAHEIM, June 1.—Clyde Cromer, well known Orange county automobile dealer, was installed as president of the Anaheim Lions club, succeeding Lotus H. Loudon, at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the club held in the Elks clubhouse today noon.

C. S. Huston, past president of the Los Angeles Lions club, was guest of honor of the day and had charge of the installation ceremonies.

Other new officers who took over their new duties today are Carl Monahan, secretary and treasurer, and Charles Walker, O. E. Hanson and Louis Hoskins, directors.

Enjoyable Afternoon Planned to Honor Bride-elect

When Mrs. W. S. Suddaby entertained as a pleasant event of the week, she complimented her niece, Miss Laurene Sauers, one of the lovely galaxy of girls who will be June brides. Guests were relatives and a few close friends of the honoree, and for their entertainment, Mrs. Suddaby had provided an assortment of tea towels and rainbow-hued dust cloths, which were hemmed during the afternoon.

When all were completed, they were presented Miss Sauers for her linen shelves. Nor were they the only gifts of the afternoon, for a collection of lovely things for use and adornment in her future home had been brought by the guests, and showered on her.

Ice cream and cake were enjoyed as the finale to the afternoon, one of a series of happy affairs planned as pre-nuptial courtesies to Miss Sauers before her wedding to Paul Owens.

Mrs. Suddaby used many colorful gladioluses and other pretty garden flowers to make her home attractive for her guests, who included in addition to the honoree and her mother, Mrs. J. W. Sauers, Mrs. O. B. Newcomb, Mrs. A. Morris, Mrs. D. Forney, Mrs. Kinsey, Mrs. Charles Preston, Mrs. S. W. Suddaby, Mrs. George Lewis, Mrs. V. V. Tubbs and Miss June Forney, Tustin; Mrs. A. Rowley, Mrs. Burton Rowley, Mrs. Uehling, Mrs. Osborn, Mrs. Chester Baxter, Santa Ana, and Mrs. H. Taylor, of Denver, together with two cunning children, Master J. V. Sauers, small brother of the bride-elect, and little Ruth Owens, sister of her fiance.

Well-Known Musician Directs Festival In Las Vegas

Completing a visit of several weeks here at his home, 816 North Main street, Clarence A. Gustlin was planning to leave today for Las Vegas, New Mex., where his time is demanded by duties as assistant director of the famous Arts Festival ("La Fiesta de las Artes") which will open on June 15 to continue to August 15.

This will be the second year of the festival, the 1927 offering having attracted music and art-loving people from all over the world. The Santa Ana pianist took prominent part last year also. He will give two piano recitals on the approaching program, and will also conduct a master class in piano at Montezuma college, during the summer.

In addition to his duties as assistant director, his concerts and teaching, the Santa Anan will prepare and direct the performance of "Sunset Trail" by Charles Wakefield Cadman, which will form the finale of the Arts festival.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustlin had planned leaving for Las Vegas by automobile, and Mrs. Gustlin had expected to remain for the summer, but her illness with influenza prevented her from making the trip at present, so Mr. Gustlin was forced to go ahead, to take charge of his many interests there. She will join him upon her full recovery.

S. A. Country Club

As summer draws near and nearby beaches attract amusement seeking Santa Anans, the house committee of Santa Ana Country club decided to eliminate all club parties during June, July and August, with the exception of the evening card party in June. Dancing, which is so popular a feature during the winter months, loses in popularity to the beach pavilions, so will be discontinued until autumn.

The June bridge party will be Friday night, the fifteenth, with playing to begin at 8:15 o'clock.

Although the general parties have been discontinued temporarily, many private parties are scheduled for June, and some happy times are anticipated at the popular clubhouse.

Barbecue Breakfast at Los Alisos Rancho Is Enjoyable Event

Never have the sycamore trees at Los Alisos rancho, sheltered a happier group of guests than yesterday when Mrs. Angus J. Cruickshank, chatelaine of the beautiful home, and Mrs. Clarence S. Crookshank, entertained at a barbecue breakfast and bridge.

The three big sycamores that give the home its name, and which center an oval of green grass in front of the low Spanish home, dominated the scene in which small breakfast tables were placed on the very edge of the grassy oval. Slender vases and soft-hued blossoms which nodded at their more brilliant sisters in the flower gardens sweeping away from the house.

The hostesses had arranged with Robert L. Bisby of the Inn, for his staff to prepare the fillets mignon which were served with other delicious dishes at the al fresco breakfast.

Bridge, following this lively interval, yielded attractive prizes to Mrs. Charles Kelley, Mrs. W. H. Haddon, Mrs. Mark Lacy and Mrs. Perry E. Lewis, formerly Miss Minnie Childs. Twenty-six tables were called into service for the breakfast and bridge.

Ebell Chairmen Meet To Perfect Plans For Card Party

Final plans for the entertainment of scores of Ebell members and friends, who will gather for the big Ebell bridge party Monday night, were made this morning at an interesting meeting of sub-chairmen, with the general chairman, Mrs. W. H. Haddon, in her pleasant home at 1014 French street.

Mrs. Haddon, Mrs. F. E. Coulter, Ebell president, Mrs. Cood Adams of the decorations and reception committee, Mrs. J. H. Metzgar, refreshments, Mrs. A. V. Herr, tables and chairs, and Mrs. W. H. Harrison, prizes and tickets, comprised the group, and a busy morning was devoted to planning for the enjoyment of a large crowd. The peacock room of the clubhouse will be reserved for play, and tables will be placed in groups of ten, with progressing confined to the group. Other tables will be arranged for those who come in small parties and wish, by pivoting, to remain in their individual groups.

Two prizes will be given in each section of ten tables, one for the high score among the women and the other for men's high score. Unusually attractive prizes are promised by Mrs. Harrison and her committee. Not to be outdone, Mrs. Metzgar and her workers promise special refreshments at the close of the evening of play.

Those desiring tickets for the function, may obtain them from any member of the board of directors, for that is the special group of Ebell women, sponsoring the party. For the last-minute folks who will not be certain of attending until the very night itself, tickets will be on sale at the clubhouse.

Fashion Hints

FLOWER TOQUE

Four large velvet flowers resembling the thorn-apple blossoms entirely face a catawba silk jersey toque. All four flowers take different purply-red tones.

BOLD NOTE

A bold chevron insert of white silk in the front of a scarlet angora sleeveless jumper relates it to the white pleated skirt with a scarlet border.

ONE-PIECE FROCK

Pleated one-piece frocks, with long sleeves and shirt collars, are good sports styles this spring. A maize crepe de chine one has brown incrustations.

MULTITONE STRIPES

Fine multitone stripings, in every pastel shade, distinguish the jumper of a sports suit of pleated orchid skirt, 'kerchief cape and beret.

HAT TUCKS

Tuck treatments mark new imported hats as unusual. The brim of a large drooping natural bakou has two-inch tucks from the crown. Flowers trim it.

NEW RIBBONS

Crepe de chine ribbons and a new cire are chic as hat trimmings this spring. A rustic straw braid in natural shade has a wide brim on one side, the other short brim augmented by a big crepe de chine bow.

LACE'S IMPORTANCE

From lingerie to hats lace is chic this spring. The wood brown lace dinner gown is this season's smart innovation. One has a tiered skirt and scarf collar.

EVENING SLEEVES

Sports dresses are sleeveless this spring but evening frocks are introducing tiny caps, scarfs and cape effects to give them short sleeves.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

At least three women are on their tiptoes and ready to go, all out for the honor of being the first woman to fly across the Atlantic. Thea Rasche, who has been visiting us for some time, plans to fly home to Germany. Mabel Boll also plans to fly eastward, and Lilli Dillens is to fly from Germany to the United States.

Meanwhile women leaders in public life are exhorting women to think and vote and work as people and not as women; to support a man candidate who is better than a woman. In other words, sex antagonism and sex warfares must go, they say.

How about sex contests, then? If we are all working and living as people and not as men or women, why should any woman want to be "the first woman" to swim a channel or fly across an ocean, if a man who is also a human being, has done it first?

You can talk yourself blue in the face, but sex discrimination, sex loyalty, sex entity, is as instinctive an instinct as exists.

WHY WAIT?

Love will no longer be the chief thing in life in 1958, says Paul Morand, French philosopher and author. That's not nearly so surprising a statement as his implied belief that one must wait 30 years for this result. Exploits of men and women today seem to indicate that right now in 1928, other things than love are "chief things" of life.

If this were not so, why did Fitzmaurice and Koehl leave wives and children behind to fly across the Atlantic, with the odds about 99 to 1?

Why are the three women mentioned above waiting impatiently to do the very same thing? All are comely; it is not probable that love is impossible for any of them.

Personal achievement is the chief thing in life in both '28 and '58.

YOUR CHILD'S LONGINGS

Some parents who "give their children everything," according to their own say-so, might be amazed if they really knew their own child's longings. Kathleen Woodward, the factory girl of England who was the first and only person ever given royal sanction and cooperation to write a life of Queen Mary, has just published a more poignantly human book—"Jipping Street," the story of her own childhood in a London slum.

A WHITEWASHED ROOM

The child longed for a bare whitewashed room with nothing but a big whitewashed table in it where she could "be alone all clean and think." The happiest day of her life was when she got that room, and no attractively furnished flat which her money has been able to buy her since has ever given her half the thrill, she says, of that bare room with a bare big table in it.

WHAT, NO CONTACTS?

Lady Rhonda of England says that the voting woman is a menace today. She elaborates her viewpoint by explaining that every woman thinks herself perfectly qualified to vote on any public question today, but that despite her babbled-of "modernity," the average woman still lives an isolated, parasitic, supported life, so devoid of contacts that she doesn't know enough to vote.

Which sounds sorta fishy to me! Just try to keep any woman "isolated" and "devoid of contacts" today!

"Now you have food to last some time, so on your boat you'd better climb," exclaimed the fat old Happy Man. "I'll tell you where to go. Be patient, now, and kindly wait until I raise the swinging gate that hangs across the River of Fun. Some things you all should know.

"This stream's the only one, I guess, that always leads to happiness. No one's allowed upon it who's forgotten how to smile. All frowning folks must stay behind. No welcome on it will they find. It holds a lot of treats, although it only runs a mile.

"It seems that all you Tinymites have come down here to see the sights, but first I must find out if you can keep your spirits high. To find out, I will now begin: Who's going to frown? Who's going to grin? Now, everyone who says he'll grin, I'll gladly pass on by."

"Oh, I'll be happy," Scouty cried. Then Clowny rushed up to his side, and added, "Honest, so will I. I always feel that way. I never frown. I never fret. I'm always cheerful, you can bet. I act real nice when working, and I act real nice at play."

"Me, too!" yelled Carpy. "I'll be good, and I'll do all things that I should." Then last of all, wee Coppy cried, "I give my promise too." "All right, that's fine," the gateman said. "I guess you all can go ahead. I'll lift the monstrous gate and let your houseboat sail on through."

"Hurray! Hurray!" the Tinies roared, and quickly they all hopped aboard. The gateman pulled a lever, and the big gate swung up high. The boathouse then was shoved from shore, and they were on their way once more. As down the River of Fun they went, the Tinies waved good-bye.

(The Tinymites have some trouble in the next story.)

YOST SPURGEON THEATRE

AT THE THEATER

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

"Beware of Married Men," now showing at the Broadway theater, gives Irene Rich an opportunity to demonstrate not only her genius for light comedy, but her deftness in characterization.

She is Myra Martin, secretary to Gilbert, noted divorce lawyer, to whom comes Juanita Sheldon, seeking a divorce, her fourth, from the rather free-and-easy Huntley Sheldon. Myra knows from experience the vagaries of the man, and when she finds that he is paying attention to her impressionable younger sister, disguises as a dowdy "social service worker" and goes to remonstrate with him. Sheldon, to escape consequences, feigns a heart attack.

Alarmed at his seeming ilness, Myra is trying to restore him when the tempestuous Mrs. Sheldon arrives. The impromptu nurse tries to escape but is seen by the wife and Botts, a boob detective. Sheldon now has Myra in his power and to further complicate things her younger sister elopes with a former lover. The newlyweds, however, hear how matters stand with Myra and the bride goes to Sheldon's apartment to protest. Here it is that the humorous story which has been developing from sequence to sequence bursts forth in all its uproarious mirth.

Lawyer Gilbert is visiting Sheldon to give him some friendly advice. Botts and Mrs. Sheldon tell Myra that Sheldon is entertaining a girl which she is sure must be her beloved sister. She rushes back to Sheldon's apartment . . . .

YOST SPURGEON THEATER

"Motherhood," which made its appearance yesterday at the Yost Spurgeon theater before adult intelligence, lent authority to the depiction of the best methods of care for a woman throughout her time of expectant maternity.

The main part of the story is a cinema narrative of the lives of two different women in different classes of society, faced with the problems of childbirth.

To one, a society woman, the idea of having a child is repellent. To the other, the flapper wife of a young time-clock puncher, the problem is to be faced honestly and intelligently, with every possible safeguard for the expected child. The purpose of Lita Lawrence, who supervised the production and wrote the story, was to show that physical fear is no longer to be a bar to the glory of motherhood.

WEST COAST-WALKER

"Hideous, hilarious happenings in a haunted house," is the slogan for Esther Ralston's new starring vehicle, "Something Always Happens," which is at the West Coast-Walker theater.

The story is mystery, enlivened by farcial and mysterious situations, and distinctly different from anything the popular star of "The Spotlight" and "Love and Learn" has ever done.

The plot centers about a young American girl, as jazz-mad as the rest of the modern fair sex, who becomes engaged to a young Englishman. In England she tires of the cut-and-dried existenco and wants something to happen to her. Something does happen and action comes in abundant quantities. She becomes embroiled in a hunt for a notorious Chinese bandit, Chang-Tzo, played by Sojin, the Oriental star of "The Thief of Bagdad," and gets mixed up with a bandit gang.

The cast includes Neil Hamilton, Sojin, Johnnie Morris, Lawrence Grant and Mischa Auer.

WEST END THEATER

The haunting loveliness of an old song—the fragrance of a romance sweeter than its native Edelweiss—a love story of a boy and a girl caught in the grip of the iron first of tradition—with the background of a whole great nation—that is "The Student Prince," current attraction at the West End theater.

It is a story of the soul of Europe—and the soul of humanity.

The great spectacle is more than a triumph for Ramon Novarro and Norma Shearer, who play its principal roles.

It is a triumph for the screen as a whole—for it marks another step forward in the advance of the screen to its ultimate destiny as one of the greatest of the great arts.

ARMENIANS GIVEN HELP BY LEAGUE

GENEVA, June 1—Forty thousand Armenian refugees, left stranded in Syria and Lebanon by the war, gradually are being established on a permanent, self-supporting basis under the auspices of the League of Nations and in agreement with France, the mandatory power.

The work is being carried on under the direction of Dr. Nansen, who has represented the League in the settling of more than 1,000,000 war refugees.

Of the 40,000 Armenian refugees, about 12,000 are artisans, and 28,000 agricultural workers. About 12,000 of the total number are completely destitute and are living in camps around Aleppo, Alexandretta and Beyrouth.

According to Dr. Nansen's estimates a total of $600,000, employed as a revolving fund, will be necessary to settle the entire number on a self-supporting basis. Of this amount over $200,000 has already been raised from various sources.

New Popper Won't Pop Till Wanted

LONDON, June 1—High explosives that will not explode until desired are the invention of the Rev. J. J. [illegible].

By a simple invention Dr. [illegible] has rendered high explosives as used in shells, blasting charges, etc., in mines [illegible] and consequently harmless to handle until such time as they are desired.

Liquid air is mingled with the high explosives and sealed in airtight cases. The presence of the liquid air separates all the particles of organic matter so that detonation cannot occur unexpectedly. By opening a valve which releases the air, the explosives again become dangerous.

Don't Make a Toy Out of Baby
Babies Have Nerves
By RUTH BRITTAIN

Much of the nervousness in older children can be traced to the overstimulation during infancy, caused by regarding baby as a sort of animated toy for the amusement of parents, relatives and friends. Baby may be played with, but not for more than a quarter of an hour to an hour daily. Beyond that, being handled, tickled, caused to laugh or even scream, will sometimes result in vomiting, and invariably causes irritability, crying or sleeplessness.

Fretfulness, crying and sleeplessness from this cause can easily be avoided by treating baby with more consideration, but when you just can't see what is making baby restless or upset, better give him a few drops of pure, harmless Castoria. It's amazing to see how quickly it calms baby's nerves and soothes him to sleep; yet it contains no drugs or opiates—it is purely vegetable—the recipe is on the wrapper. Leading physicians prescribe it for colic, cholera, diarrhea, constipation, gas on stomach and bowels, feverishness, loss of sleep and all other "upsets" of babyhood. Over 25 million bottles used a year shows its overwhelming popularity.

With each bottle of Castoria, you get a book on Motherhood, worth its weight in gold. Look for Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on each package so you'll get genuine Castoria. There are [illegible].—Adv.

HAIL WOMAN AS FRENCH QUEEN IN PARIS FETE

PARIS, May 31. (by mail)—The Duchesse de Guise, wife of the pretender to the French throne, was hailed as the Queen of France at the Joan of Arc celebration here recently.

The Duchesse herself prepared the royal demonstration by renting an apartment in a hotel facing the statue of the French heroine in the Rue des Pyramides, where the chief celebration was held, and by stepping to an open window with her daughter, the Princess Francoise, as a royalist youth gave the signal.

A chorus of girls in picturesque provincial costumes, brought together from all parts of France by the Marquis de Castelnau, hailed her with: "Vive las Reine de France!" The Duchess and the young Princess bowed their acknowledgements.

The Duke of Brussels is not allowed in France since he became the head of the House of Bourbon and Orleans.

The incident attracted attention because the Duchess de Guise has for some time past been making arrangements for a tour through Southwest France, where royalist traditions are dying more slowly than elsewhere. At Bordeaux and Tours local royalists arranged receptions, where in each case more than 10,000 came to do homage.

The government, considering that royalist propaganda has no chance in a solidly established republic, has taken no official notice of the incident. The municipality of Paris, however, refused to let the royalists treat Joan of Arc as their own by making a celebration by the whole city, but in Marseilles the royalists succeded in their purpose and the celebration, threatening to be exclusively royalist, was forbidden.

TEAPOT EXILE TO SEE KIN IN MOVIE

DENVER, Colo., June 1.—The Parisian exile of Henry M. Blackmer will be brightened this summer by motion pictures of his Denver relatives and of the scenes from which he fled to avoid testifying in the Teapot Dome investigations.

The man who has defied the United States government will see, on an improvised screen, his three grand-children playing about a familiar yard; he will see the halls and rooms through which he once walked.

But the children have changed from the tots Blackmer knew. And the house, in which "Denver's spendthrift millionaire" once entertained so lavishly, recently has been altered extensively.

The motion pictures were taken by a Denver photographer and will be carried to France by Erie O. Kistler, Blackmer's son-in-law. Mrs. Kistler already has left for Paris to visit her father.

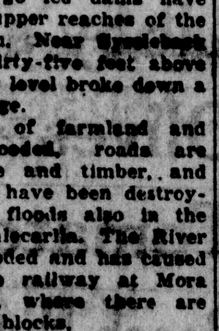
Ice Dams Cause Floods In Sweden

STOCKHOLM, June 1—Floods are causing serious damage in Sweden. Large ice dams have formed in the upper reaches of the River Klaralven. Near Sysslebaeck an ice dam thirty-five feet above the usual water level broke down a suspension bridge.

Large areas of farmland and forest are flooded, roads are blocked by ice and timber, and telephone lines have been destroyed. There are floods also in the province of Dalecarlia. The River Dalalven is flooded and has caused damage to the railway at Mora and Alvadalen, where there are twenty-ton ice blocks.



Powder Means Much to Me

The average woman considers the actress hopelessly ahead of her in the art of enhancing natural beauty.

CHAMPAGNE IS PRESERVED AS MUSEUM PRIZE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Lacking only the cracked ice, snowy napkins and famed silver bucket, a group of prominent men and women gathered around a bottle of champagne here which was "real imported stuff."

But there was no popping of corks, gay laughter, toasts or crooning music. With a few solemn speeches and stiff formalities, the group placed the champagne behind the glass of a museum show case. There prohibition America may gaze and wonder for years to come.

Eighty years ago the bottle, then old, left France to satisfy a portion of the thirst of the young and lusty United States. In a short time it was bound around the horn for gold-rush San Francisco of 1849. The owner of the bottle was Captain Stevenson of the windjammer Niantic.

Beating up the Pacific Coast, the Niantic rescued 60 men of the "Taylor Company of New York," castaways and fever victims on the Isthmus of Panama. In San Francisco all deserted the Niantic and rushed to the gold fields.

Captain Stevenson in his haste forgot three bottles of champagne in the ship strong box. He never came back. In time the Niantic beached on what now is a busy San Francisco commercial street.

The ship was used as a warehouse until 1851 when it was partially consumed by fire. Sand almost buried the charred hulk and the next year a frame hotel was erected over the spot.

In 1872 the frame structure gave away to a brick hotel which carried the ship's name and stood until the earthquake and fire of 1906.

During subsequent excavations the three bottles of champagne were discovered. They were presented to the three surviving members of the "Taylor Company of New York," one of whom was J. A. Brunner, late uncle of Mrs. Agatha Jacobs of San Francisco.

Mrs. Jacobs presented the now doubly historic champagne to the Daughters of California Pioneers' Museum.

A Column of News and Views of Santa Ana People Conducted by Mair Hardware

Why should anyone try to save $75? It's too little for a car and too much to give the wife.

A lot of our customers tell us they appreciate the kind of service we give. That makes us feel like giving more.

Curious old lady to one-armed man: "I notice you have lost your arm, young man."

Young man: "Why so I have. How strange!"

We were very sorry to hear that the Albatross had to land after about fifteen hours in the air. We had hoped to see them bring this endurance test honors to Santa Ana and Southern California.

THE BRIDE'S HYMN
Canopener 'tis of thee,
Friend in emergency,
Of thee we sing.
When burnt brown is the steak,
And sinks the ten-pound cake,
You save a tummy-ache,
Oh, kitchen king!

Did you see the many useful articles we have for gifts. Come in and look them over.

We often wonder how the Prodigal Son behaved after the calf was eaten up.

We will have been residents of Santa Ana one full year June 2nd, and to say that we are well pleased with Santa Ana is putting it mildly.

TAX DODGER LAYS OUT SOVIET SHOPS

RIGA, May 31.—The soviet department of finance has published the names of 700 tax defaulters who have closed down their enterprises without paying their taxes. The department requires all institutions, firms and private persons to inform the authorities if they know of any secret possessions of these bankrupts that the state might seize, and to assist the authorities to discover the whereabouts of those who have simply abandoned their enterprises and disappeared.

These 700 belong to Moscow alone, and represent only the biggest of the private shops, workshops, etc., that have closed recently owing to their inability to exist under the government's latest policy. The authorities offer informers a percentage of the profits from the dicvovery of the defaulters' hidden possessions.

Doctor Found Women and Children Sick More Often than Men

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half of his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of Dr. Caldwell's 47 years' practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1875), he found a good deal of success in such cases with a preparation of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his prescription was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in Dr. Caldwell's private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every [illegible] of the working day [illegible] is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year. [illegible]

It is mild and gentle in its action and does not gripe [illegible] opiates [illegible] it is safe for the tiniest baby. Children like it and take it willingly.

Concrete Bridge Spans Dry Ground

TRUJILLO, Peru, June 1.—Beside the road from here to Salaverry, the nearest port, stands a costly concrete bridge spanning dry ground.

The bridge was built to cross a river, but no sooner had the bridge been completed than the river changed its course. It now flows about a mile north of the bridge, but the inhabitants of the region are optimistic and hope that some day the river will change back to its old course and thus make the bridge of use.

Cudahy's

Puritan

100%
Leaf Lard

The Perfect Shortening

Cudahy's Puritan Lard is famous as "The Perfect Shortening" because it assures better baking and cooking.

To be perfect a shortening must have superior mixing and blending qualities. You have these in Puritan Lard—due to its fine grained texture. Puritan makes cakes and pastry that are light, fluffy and delicious; pie crust that is tender, crisp and flaky: the kind which you are proud and delighted to serve.

Puritan Lard is also unequalled for deep frying. The golden brown seal which it quickly forms around the food retains the original flavor; this prevents greasy, soggy food.

Puritan is 100% pure leaf lard, open kettle rendered, free from moisture and chilled in the package. Because of these finer qualities less of it is required.

Puritan Lard does not smoke at cooking temperature. As it does not absorb food flavors, it may be used again and again.

You'll be delighted with Puritan—At your dealers.

WEST BADEN, Ind., June 1—In the presence of more than 1,000 members of the American Library association which is holding its annual convention here, Dhan Gopal Mukerji, a native of India, tonight was awarded the John Newbery Medal, the gift of Frederic G. Melcher, of New York City.

The Newbery Medal is an annual award for "the most distinguished children's book of the past year" and Mukerji, author of "A Son of Mother India Answers," won it with his "Gay Neck," a glamorous tale of Indian boyhood and the saga of a carrier pigeon.

Others who have won the medal in past years are: Hendrik Van Loon for his "The Story of Mankind;" Arthur Bowie Chrisman for "Shen of the Sea;" Hugh Lofting for "The Voyages of Dr. Doolittle;" Charles Finger for "Tales From Silver Lands," and Will James for "Smoky." The gift is limited to citizens or residents of the Nnited States. Mukerji was born in Calcutta, July 6, 1890, was graduated from Calcutta University at 18, later taking courses in Tokio University and Leland Stanford. His next book, announced by Duttons for August, is entitled "Ghond the Hunter."

The Newbery Medal is named in honor of John Newbery, an 18th century publisher who was one of the first men in his lines to devote special attention to books for children.

ORLANDO, Fla., June 1.—H. L. King, who has been in the bee business for 20 years, has found a colony can make war as unitedly as it makes honey.

Mrs. King was attempting to chase the bees into the apiary recently when they apparently became angered. They hit the woman, not seriously, and then turned in swarms on the King chickens. Thirty-two fowls were stung to death.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

FINDS TRACES OF LONG LOST CITY

TOLEDO, June 1.—The lost city of Opis, object of scientific searches for hundreds of yeas, is believed located by Prof. Leroy Waterman, conducting an expedition into Mesopotamia.

In a letter to Professor Blakemore Godwin, director of the Toledo Museum of Art, Waterman, conducting his search in connection with the museum and the University of Michigan, said he had made excavations on the banks of the Tigris River, near—or at the actual site of—the ancient strategic city in Babylonia.

His letter reveiled he found six definite levels of what he believes to be the lost city, each recording independent cultures of the peoples who occupied the city from age to age.

Although Waterman has had little time as yet to explore and excavate, he already has discovered a temple site, a cemetery site, portions of the city's walls, pavement and foundation, and several wells.

Artistic finds have not amounted to much as yet, according to the letter. Two inscribed stones, one bearing a list of ancient kings and the other with a table concerning the kings of Akshak, are the only articles of value unearthed.

Eastern Grain Fed Pork

There's a vast difference in pork. The buying public is daily deceived in their selection of pork cuts, due to buying by appearance only.

Frequently these lean-appearing cuts come from the most inferior kind of hogs that have been fed on garbage and other poor subtitutes for grain.

To make good pork, hogs must be fed on grain and pork cuts from Eastern Grain-Fed Hogs is not lean in appearance, but it's the only pork of real merit.

Seidel's markets have always featured these fine quality grain-fed products.

WOMEN BATTLE TO SAVE OLD BRICK CAPITOL

By HERBERT LITTLE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The "old brick capitol," seat of the federal government from 1815 to 1819, is facing a fight for its life. The ax of the wrecker is almost poised over the historic old brick building, but its occupants, the members of the National Woman's Party, are fighting to preserve it.

The fight to prevent condemnation of the building facing on the present capitol, the site being desired for the new United States Supreme Court building, has been taken to Congress. Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, introduced and secured Senate passage of a resolution directing that condemnation proceedings now in progress, be held up, and that, if the site is taken, the building, which has also been a Civil War prison, be preserved on another site.

The resolution, which must be approved by the House and President to be effective, cites in its list of "whereases" the picturesque story of the building. It describes the building as "next to Mt. Vernon and the Capitol, the most historic in America," and says

"It has been asserted that had it not been for this building, the Capitol would have been removed from the District of Columbia after the British destroyed the Capitol building in 1814.

"The Congress convened in said building from 1815 to 1819, and President Monroe was inaugurated there in 1817.

"It has been both a Capitol and a prison, scenes of revelry and tragedy, and connected with many other historical events.

"Every building that has been used as a Capitol of this Republic since its founding, including Independence Hall and the one at York, Pa., the one in New York City and the one at Annapolis, have been preserved by patriotic people in the interest of history and sentiment."

At hearings in condemnation proceedings, the occupants placed a $1,000,000 valuation on the property, emphasizing its history and contending that the fact that Civil War Confederate spies were executed in its back yard merely enhanced its value.

There is a legend the spies hanged were buried there, and this was brought out before the condemnation hearings, which are designed to set a fair price on the property. Another legend, that the ghost of Bell Boyd, noted Confederate woman spy who was confined there, haunts its lofty rooms, adds glamor to the old building. Mrs. Surratt, who was hanged for complicity in the assassination of Lincoln, was confined here for a time before her execution at the navy yard.

John Calhoun died in a room of the house. The building was purchased a few years ago by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont and given to the feminist organization for headquarters.

Rose Gouveneur Hoes, great-grand-daughter of President Monroe, Rep. Henry R. Rathbone of Illinois, and John Claggett Proctor, local historian, testified concerning the building's historical value, all valuing it highly as a relic of the early days of the Republic. Mrs. Hoes and Rep. Rathbone said it was the most valuable building, historically in Washington, outside of the Capitol and the White House.

Is there a coffee secret?

By Mary Dowd Reardon, Noted Food Engineer

IN my daily contacts with earnest women, I find many who have not yet discovered the way to make really good coffee.

I know there is a rather general conviction that coffee-making is a gift—but it can so easily become a habit! Here is the open secret to the steaming cup we all enjoy:

Keep your coffee-pot clean, well-aired, boiled out weekly with a soda solution. Then get into the habit of using Folger's which I always recommend for its dependable quality and matchless flavor. Establish the degree of strength you like and MEASURE your coffee and water exactly . . . Satisfy yourself by trying this little test:

Buy a can of Folger's Coffee today. Drink Folger's tomorrow morning; the next morning drink the coffee you have been using; the third morning drink Folger's again. You will then decidedly favor one brand or the other. The Best Coffee wins! . . . That's fair, isn't it?

Mrs. Reardon's Recipe

(For those who prefer percolated coffee)

MEASURE coffee and water! Use one level tablespoon of Folger's to each cup of water. Have water boiling before putting basket into pot. For average strength percolate seven minutes.

BUSINESS MAN IS ALSO STAR GAZER

By EDWARD W. LEWIS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

ATLANTA, Ga., June 1.—This tired business man's hobby is in the sky. Fascinated by the mystery of the heavens, Glenn W. S. Rhorer, president of the Georgia Paint and Glass Co., spends three months of the year looking at the stars.

So possessed is he with his hobby that each starlight night finds him on the porch-roof of his Atlanta home, star gazing. The winter months find his business temporarily forsaken so he can interest others in the fun of looking at the sky. At Miami, Fla., he is then in charge of an outdoor observatory, where six large telescopes with 27 assistant amateur astronomers under his supervision, help Florida winter visitors get acquainted with the intriguing skies.

"For driving home such an idea," he said when interviewed, "Miami possesses superior advantages to any other place in the United States. From no point further north can be seen all the first magnitude stars, those wonderful aggregations on suns—and the Southern Cross in its entirety."..

It is difficult to get Rohrer to talk of anything else but stars. He has little to say about business, although it apparently is thriving.

Rhorer, now a man past middle age, has been looking at the stars for 30 years.

Mrs. Hannah A. Haskell, his mother, is contesting the will and newspaper notice was given to all the beneficiaries, including the automobile manufacture.

CORONER JURY DECIDES DEATH IS ACCIDENTAL

A verdict of accidental death with no responsibility placed was returned by a coroner's jury at noon today in the case of Bert L. Runnells, 30, Tustin, who died at the Santa Ana Valley hospital yesterday morning as the result of a motorcycle-automobile crash, near San Juan Capistrano, Wednesday night.

A number of witnesses were called, who described the scene of the accident and who declared that the accident occurred on a blind curve. The driver of the automobile John Gless, El Toro, was one of the witnesses. Others were James Sickner, garage man; LeRoy Cook and A. N. Robertson.

Robertson and Cook testified that Runnells and his brother Hugh, who was seriously injured in the accident, were travelling about 35 miles an hour when they were witin 100 feet of the scene of the accident. Robertson testified that he believed the men lost control of their machine on the curve and swerved over towards the center of the road.

The condition of Hugh Runnells, 32, was reported improved today. He is in the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where his brother died. Hugh suffered two broken legs and a fractured elbow and his condition is serious.

Funeral services for Bert Runnells will be held late this afternoon with burial in Fairhaven cemetery.

War Weddings In Germany Failing

BERLIN, June 1.—Every seventh German marriage ends in the divorce court, according to latest statistics. Up to the war it was one in 200. Since that time divorce figures have risen rapidly, mostly as a consequence of ill-assorted "war" matings.

The marriage market, however, is busier than ever, and matrimonial knots are tied light-heartedly.

The average ages of the partners are also lower. Before the war it was 30 for the bridegroom and 24 for the bride; now it is 27 and 22, respectively, although there are many boy and girl marriages also.

Popular Initials Are Hunted Down

LONDON, June 1—"S" is the most popular initial letter in the English language, according to figures compiled from the new Oxford English Dictionary now nearing completion.

The total number of "main" words listed as beginning with S is 27,329. Other popular letters are P and C with 23,182 and 21,395 respectively. Latin prefixes account for the great number of words beginning with these letters.

Other letters, unexpectedly important are I and U, their popularity being accounted for by the number of words beginning with in and un.

The MOVIE PEOPLE

HOLLYWOOD, June 1.—After a retirement lasting almost two years, Mae Murray is to return to the screen. And this time her noted face and form will be seen in a picture of her own production.

Public demand and her natural desire for the kleigs form the basis for her reappearance on the silver screen, she says. She is producing her own picture because she thinks the experience will be amusing and because she believes she will do better work.

Since Miss Murray left the screen almost two years ago, she has spent a year and a half traveling with her titled husband, Prince M'Divani, and six months touring in vaudeville.

The receptions she received when she appeared in public abroad and the box office favor her vaudeville trip found dominated the decision to play again in pictures.

"I wanted to return just because I always have and always will like motion picture work," she says. "And when I found the public wanted me back as much as I wanted to come back, I made up my mind right away.

"I selected a story which I am sure will meet with approval. It has many of the qualities that made 'The Merry Widow' a success.

"After I decided on the picture I decided I'd produce it myself. Producing really should be amusing and I certainly know enough of motion pictures not to stub my toe.

"I think after the film is completed I'll tour with it, making personal appearances in this country and, perhaps, in Europe or South America. Then I'll return to Hollywood and make another."

Miss Murray's picture is to go into production at once. It has not been titled but she favors either "Hungarian Rhapsody" or "Gold of Galt."

Alice Davenport, one of the pioneer comedy stars, an original member of the Mack Sennett company, returns to the screen in a secries of comedies to be produced at Tec-Art studios.

Fred Thomson, the western star, seems gripped by history. Having recently completed "The Life of Jesse James," he is now working on "Kit Carson." Much of the action is to be filmed in Arizona.

Ronald Colman's first individual starring vehicle will be Charles Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities." He will play the part of Sidney Carton. Colman previously has been co-featured with Vilma Banky, the Hungarian actress.

Miss Banky, meanwhile, is working in "The Innocent." Louis Wolheim, who vies with Bull Montana as Hollywood's ugliest man, has one of the main supporting roles.

Bebe Daniels braves irate mothers at a baby show, a ship wreck, an auto race and other dangers in her new picture, "Hot News," in which she plays the part of a news reel camera girl.

Harry Langdon is making his last release for First National under his present contract.

New Styles Lure Peasant Lassies

PARIS, June 1.—The peasant girls of France are causing consternation among their elders by scorning the picturesque costumes worn by their mothers in favor of modern styles.

An ingenius defense of the old costume has been found in the will of Jacques Laplainte, a peasant who lived near Lille. His will provided that all his fortune, amounting to almost 1,000,000 francs, should go to his 18-year-old daughter, but only on condition that she lay away her short skirts and for the next three years wear only the peasant dress of long velvet skirt, lace cap and brocaded jacket.

Femmes To Enter Diplomatic Ranks

PARIS, June 1.—A decree opening the lower ranks of the French diplomatic service to women has been published by the president and minister of foreign affairs. The decree admits women to posts in the central administration, but does not make them eligible for higher posts in the foreign field nor the diplomatic consular service.

The new order was said to have intended originally to allow women to hold the rank of consul until it was discovered that the existing laws forbid the performance of the marriage ceremony by a woman, which is one of the legal functions of a consul.

The proposed route between Scotland and Ireland is via Dumfries and Stranraer. The estimated time of the journey from Glasgow to Belfast will be about five hours and the round trip fare about $48. In addition to the regular Irish service the company has arranged to operate taxi-planes for hire to any part of the country at short notice.

Indians In Cuba Battle Eviction

HAVANA, June 1.—The history of the American Indian and his last stand against the advancement of civilization is being relived in Cuba, where the Caujeri tribe of Oriente province is waging a legal war against court summons to move in.

Eviction proceedings have been initiated by landed interests, but the Indians refuse to leave or to take any notice of court orders. While the matter is being settled in court a small army of Cuban regulars is in charge.

One parcel of land under dispute is the Macambo reserve, which, governmentally owned has been occupied since time immemorial by the Caujeri. Just recently a lease was given to start construction of a sawmill, but the Indians, last of the famous Siboneys, deny the government right to move them and in defense have started counter proceedings in court, in the meantime continuing to reside on the land of their forefathers.

Reduce Time For Freight Delivery

LOS ANGELES, June 1—Freight delivery from Chicago and Eastern points to Los Angeles has been reduced one day on three railroad lines.

Through an agreement between the Santa Fe, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific, railroad carload and less than carload lots from Chicago will reach Los Angeles on the eighth day instead of on the ninth morning.

Only Home Girls Wed Turk Envoys

ANGORA, Turkey, June 1.—The Turkish government prohibits marriage of ambassadors or high government officials to foreign women. The breaking of this rule entails dismissal, as in the recent case of a prominent officer of the aviator corps here, who returned from a mission abroad with a German mate. Infringement of the law has been winked at, however, in cases where the foreign wives are wealthy.

LACE FROCKS

Lace frocks are imperative in spring wardrobes. Warm colors, particularly deep pinks and purples, are very good. They usually have light foundations.

FLARED TUNICS

New tunics, the length of the new cardigans, flare from the waistline and when they take a straight skirt under them are reminiscent of the peg-top silhouette.

MUTT AND JEFF—Who's Looney Now?

I'LL BET YOU'RE GLAD TO GET BACK TO THE CITY AGAIN!
DON'T BE SILLY! I ENJOY GOING BACK TO FROGHOLLOW TO VISIT MY MOTHER!
BUT IT'S SUCH A LITTLE DUMP! I'D GO DIPPY IF I HAD TO LIVE IN A BACKWOODS SECTION LIKE THAT! HOW'D YOU KILL THE TIME?
AUTOING!
AUTOING OVER THOSE TERRIBLE ROADS? IT'S A WONDER YOU WEREN'T SHAKEN TO PIECES!
THE ROADS ARE FINE NOW! THEY'VE ABOLISHED THE BAD ROADS SINCE YOU WERE THERE!
INDEED? WELL, I'LL SAY IT MUST HAVE BEEN A BIG JOB!
NOT AT ALL, OLD DEAR! NOT AT ALL!
WHEREVER THE GOING IS ESPECIALLY HARD THEY DON'T CALL IT A ROAD! THEY CALLS IT A "DETOUR".

THIS WAY, MR. NEBOR, HAVE A SEAT BY THE WINDOW
I GUESS YOU WILL ENJOY THIS TABLE—YOU GET A PEEK AT THE HILLS FROM HERE AND THE SUN PEEPS IN IN THE EARLY MORNING AND SEEMS TO SAY "OH, COME OUT AND PLAY"
IF YOU'LL GIVE ME YOUR ORDER I'LL SEE THAT IT GETS SPECIAL ATTENTION—YOU HAD A GOOD WAITRESS BUT SHE HAS AN IRRESISTIBLE HABIT OF PEEKING INTO MIRRORS TO SEE PRETTY PICTURES AND IT SOMETIMES DELAYS PROGRESS A BIT.
I DON'T LIKE THAT GUY AND I'M GOING TO TRY TO CHECK UP ON HIM, AND I DON'T LIKE THE ATTENTION MY DAUGHTER IS GIVING HIM EITHER—WHEN I SEE A GUY WITH HIS HAIR FULL OF GLUE AND HIS CHASSIS DRAPED IN RIDICULOUS RAIMENT, I GET SKEPTICAL.

MAIN STREET PROPERTIES

$60 per front foot buys 100 feet of frontage on South Main Street in line for business improvement. This is unrestricted and is favorably located for store rooms.
$60 per front foot is the very low price of North Main Street lots containing 100 feet. We all know that anything between Santa Ana business district and Orana is well worth more than this figure. There is development all around this property right now.

EVENING SALUTATION

If you and I, just you and I—
Should laugh instead of worry;
If we should grow—just you and I—
Kinder and sweeter hearted,
Perhaps in some near by and by
A good time might get started;
Then what a happy world 'twould be
For you and me—for you and me.

OUR SON GRADUATES

About twenty years ago, more or less, a son was born to us. We were happy and not a little anxious. Were we fit to guide the new life entrusted to us? We looked ahead with anticipations of pleasure, forebodings, enthusiasm for successes, sorrow for mistakes, an abiding desire to help over hard places, determination to correct and discipline, fear of failure in our duty, our ability to wisely guide and counsel, and a world of hope.

We were proud of his every achievement, sorry for his failures, critical of his choices, stoical and resigned when we differed in judgment. We were as wise as we knew how to be in advice and counsel. We gave him every advantage our means afforded, that his start in life might be just a little better than our own.

Today we receive an invitation to be present when he graduates from college. His conscious and active preparation for life is finished. His positive constructive life of usefulness commences. It is something of a day of reckoning for us. Are we proud of him? Have we accomplished what we set out to do? Did we set the proper example for him? Are we glad that our words and deeds through the years have influenced him? As he stands now, ready to begin his part of the world's work, can we say we have done what we could or do we look back upon mistakes, great and small, in the molding of his thoughts, inclinations, habits and ambitions, as well as his physical and moral life? Ours has been a tremendous responsibility, and how have we met it?

We can have no greater joy than to see him now, at commencement, clean-minded, with good habits, a great ambition, equipped, warranted in the confident belief in himself, and ready to meet the temptations of success and failure, as well as the temptations that lead to either.

We have helped to make him what he is. Are we satisfied? Of one thing we are sure. We have a swelling gratitude to the teachers and institutions, both public and private, who have helped us. We salute the kindergarten, the Sunday School, the Boy Scout troops, the Y. M. C. A., the grammar school, the high school and the college, and all those devoted friends of our boy who have been interested in making him a man. What could we have done without them?

PUBLICITY OF TAX RETURNS

The Senate has included in the tax bill now before it a section which makes it possible for the public to learn who the tax payers are and the amount they are taxed. This was included in the bill of 1924, and omitted in the bill of 1926. This section was not included in the House draft.

There is something to be said on both sides of this matter. There is on the one hand the idle curiosity which wishes to pry into a neighbor's private affairs. There are also circumstances and conditions in the affairs of individuals and corporations which might reveal facts that competitors are not entitled to know. The first of these should not bulk very large, because only a few people have the time to pry into the affairs of their neighbors. If it does these inquisitive folks any good to know some things, we can afford to grant them that little privilege. The second, however, is a matter which deserves serious consideration on the part of our lawmakers.

In favor of publicity there is the wholesome check which it makes on officials and tax payers. The payment of taxes has not yet come to be a pleasant duty for most people. It is one of those necessities which we endure because we must. The tendency to keep our taxes down is a perfectly natural tendency, and it requires considerable conscience to be absolutely just to the government. This is especially true of corporations which are supposed to have no souls. Further, there are always men in official station who are more energetic in seeing to it that their enemies are taxed to the limit, while their friends' returns are only superficially scanned. This is human nature. We know that it has operated in this way on a number of occasions. Publicity of tax returns would undoubtedly make the taxpayer somewhat more circumspect and the public official a little more scrutinizing. We are inclined to believe that the clause inserted by the Senate for publicity of tax returns may, on the whole, be for the public interest.

COOLIDGE AT ANDOVER

The President made an address at Phillips Academy at Andover, Massachusetts, which contains his philosophy of life as he has been proclaiming it now for a number of years. He gives the boys wholesome advice about spiritual ideals, such as would do credit to a preacher. It is doubtless this emphasis on moral and spiritual ideals which accounts for much of the President's popularity over [illegible].

[illegible] statement in that address might well [illegible] for emphasis. In the course of the [illegible] states that the most dangerous [illegible] political life today is the [illegible] to delegate authority to of[illegible] the people keep power in [illegible] President will go [illegible] full implications of [illegible]. The idea of the President is good. It is the essence of democracy. We can go with him all the way in the implications of the idea. If the thought of the President goes to the heart of the thing, it is something for which we ought to be very grateful to him. Democracy is being challenged on every hand today, considerably so by the men who have had a large sympathy for the policies of Mr. Coolidge. If his statement is taken seriously, it will mark the beginning of a new faith in the inherent right and ability of the people to govern their affairs. It will justify the criticisms of the people of various governmental policies, to which even the President himself at times has taken exception.

"The people," said Alexander Hamilton, the keenest mind of the Revolutionary period, at a time when the democracy of Thomas Jefferson was a little irritating and got on his nerves, "the people is a beast." We are pleased to note that President Coolidge does not agree with the great protagonist of the latter eighteenth century. With all the natural conservatism of the President, there is still a belief in the authority of the people—an authority which should be delegated only for very good and sufficient reasons.

"THEIR BURDEN IS LIGHT"

A man named Kimmerle was recently convicted of a felony by a Los Angeles court and was sentenced by the judge to two years in the county jail. He never served a day of that sentence; but was at once set free. How was it done? We all want to know, for we may be in the same predicament sometime.

There is a parole board in Los Angeles composed of the sheriff, the chief of police and the district attorney. This board has power to set free on parole any prisoner in the county jail. The board has adopted two rules in regard to applications; first, that the prisoner must have served one-half of his sentence and second, that the judge who sentenced him must endorse the application. In the case of Kimmerle the parole was prepared immediately upon conviction and neither the judge nor the sheriff was informed.

The newspapers called attention to all these facts and now comes the astounding statement from the chief of police and the district attorney that they set the prisoner free because they believed that the conviction was unjust. The proceedings were regular; the judge and jury did their duty; the man was regularly found guilty and sentenced. Neither the chief of police nor the district attorney has any judicial authority, yet they nullify verdicts and sentences like the old-time czars.

Isn't this a fine hint to criminals? Just let the judge and the jury do as they please but see the police chief and the district attorney and even though one of them gathered the evidence upon which the conviction was based and the other prosecuted, yet if the proper arguments are produced the judge and jury do not count. How long will the people of any community endure such conduct on the part of their servants?

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

THIS OR THAT?

When you were a child perhaps you played London Bridge? You were asked to choose between having a diamond church or a golden chariot drawn by six pearl horses. Whatever your choice you had to line up with a team and pull hard for your side when the time came. Your choice just gave you a chance to struggle for a gain whose value was not clear. Now that you are grown up you may have a glimmering of what it was you struggled for when you chose the diamond church, or the golden chariot. It was for a chance to have your share in the struggle of life. The pull was the thing. Never mind what it was all about, the pull was great.

Nowadays when you struggle to bring up the children you have to choose again, day by day. Will you let this child scream it out and give yourself a headache or will you pick her up and let her have what she wants? This boy who is dominating the household, bullying his sister, and tyrannizing you, shall you face him down with stern calm, hold your footing across his path and reduce him to some sane proportion or will you for the sake of peace let him have his way?

Either choice means a long strong pull. There is no peace when you enter the field of child rearing. From the day they are born until they leave this world the children offer us a choice, this or that, and a pull for the victory. Usually we have to select the golden cross that crowns the church of pleasant childhood fancy for ours and find it very real, very heavy, pressing upon our backs until we are ready to faint under the burden. But that too, passes. There comes a time when the last choice seems to have been made. The road lies straight ahead. The children have started toward their goal under their own power. We are free.

Not quite. The old habit is too strong. We follow the children out into the world and we live again in their lives. Their sorrows are ours, their struggles are ours, their successes and their failures are ours. We are still choosing. We must continue to agonize over them, to plan their lives, advise, admonish, thrust ourselves into their lives in every possible way. The old habit is too strong for us. But again we must choose. Are we to free the children and soothe our aching hearts with other interests or are we to grimly hold on to the young lives that touch our own and make them a burden and a weariness. The wise choice is to let go. Once the children start out for themselves, establish their own work, their own households, let them go free.

If the boy seems to be choosing the wrong girl hold your tongue until he asks your opinion and then be very economical in the spending of it. If the girl seems to be choosing the wrong life work, what can be done? Once a girl has become a woman, trained, schooled, equipped for life, she must be permitted to live that life without hindrance, without interference.

The training we can give must be given the first few years; the relationship we hope to establish with our children must be set before adolescence; the sharing of life must begin with the beginning of life. All along the way we must choose this way or that and the face of wisdom is veiled.

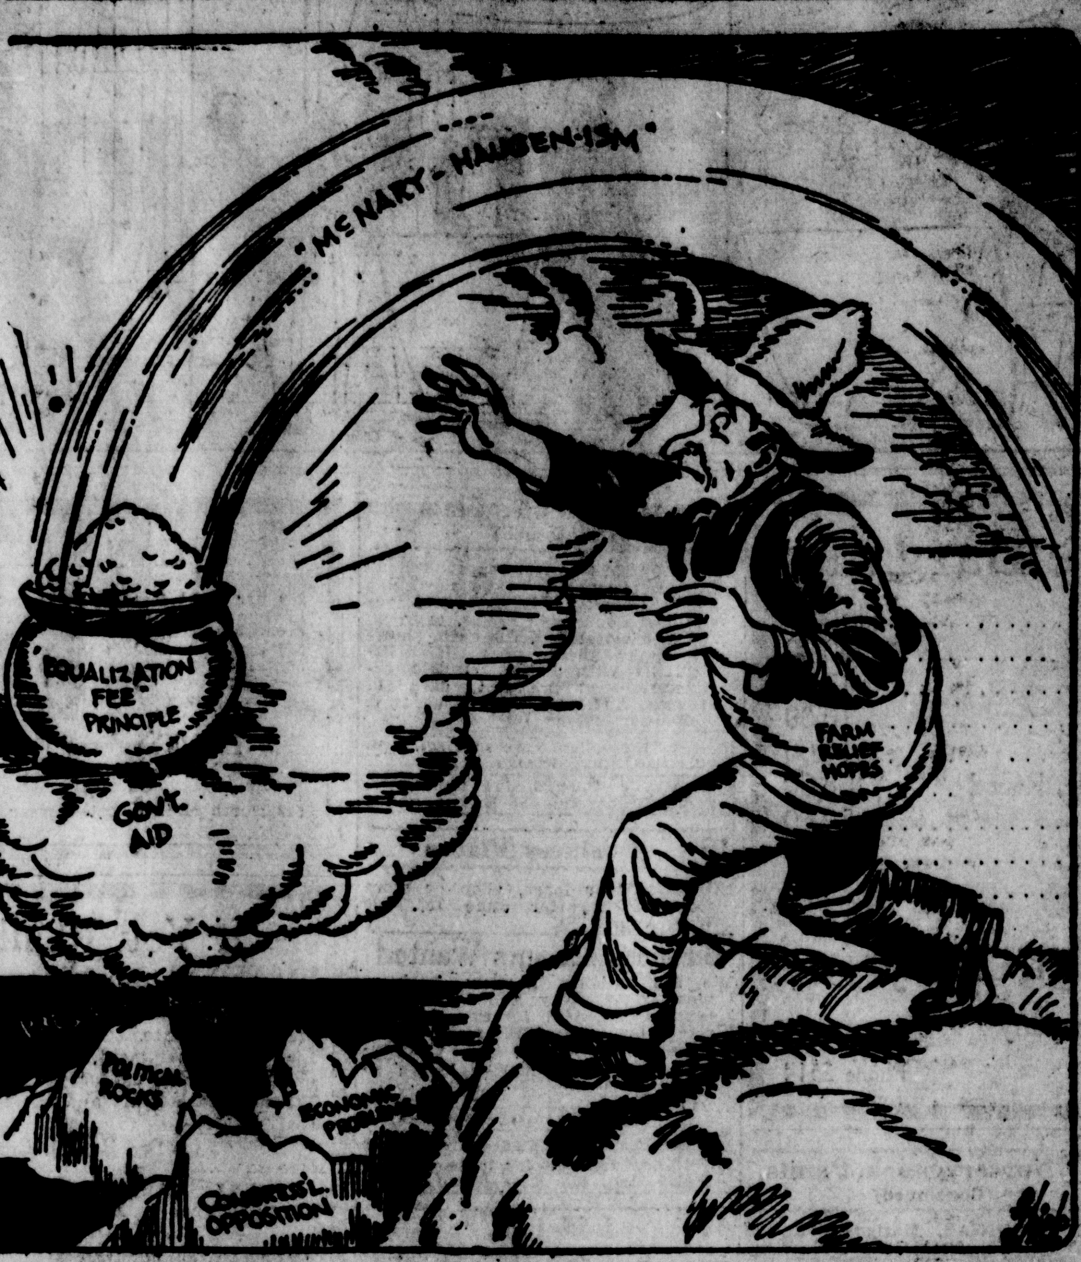
Just Another Rainbow?



More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

FIXING THE RESPONSIBILITY

I fear that at times I have hastily quoth
Expressions too deeply sincere
Although well I'm aware that the sound of an oath
Is highly unpleasant to hear.
But my language is commonly perfectly tame
And if sometimes it seems rather free
I feel quite assured that I am not to blame—
My thyroids have got out of gee.

I now and then flee from the duty called work
Pack my rods and my tackle and hie
To the streams where large trout are reported to lurk
While they wait for the earliest fly.
I know this is wrong, I should stick to my task
And attempt to build up a career,
But am I to be blamed for my actions, I ask,
When my thyroids have got out of gear?

When my neighbor drives by in a big silent car
While mine makes a noise like a truck
I frequently carry resentment so far
As to wish the poor fellow ill luck.
When symptoms of envy in others I see
I always disdainfully frown,
So I know, when I find them arising in me
That my thyroids are getting run down.

I know I should stick every day to my job,
That the demon of sheer inanition,
If allowed to get hold of a fellow, plays hob
With noble and fruitful ambition.
I know there are glorious prizes in life
That only hard labor will get me,
But I cannot engage in contention and strife,
My confounded thyroids won't let me.

Dr. Crane's Friendly Talk

THE TEST

Out in California the doings of two alleged Hindoos have been investigated, and while the results of the investigation make good newspaper copy, the effect upon the public mind is not very satisfactory.

These Hindoos profess to teach a profound wisdom and the science of God, under cover of which it is insinuated they are making money and disrupting homes.

One enraged husband, not satisfied with the treatment his wife was getting from the Yogis, socked one of them on the jaw.

Over in China they have groups of bandits who style themselves brothers of the white lily or members of the brotherhood of universal love, or something of that kind, and who are engaged in murder, pillage and robbery.

It seems strange that some of the most nefarious actions are cloaked with a semblance of devotion to God. In former times they used to torture heretics, fill their ears with hot lead and otherwise maim them all in the name of religion.

There is one test for every scheme, no matter how high sounding or appealing it may be, no matter whether it advertises itself to be for the love of God or not. That test is the humanities.

Does it [illegible] help men and women or does it deprive them of their liberties, estrange their homes and inflict upon them tortures.

The test of everything is how it affects human beings.

No matter how high sounding or devout a scheme may be, if the eventual result of it is to [illegible] the sense of decency, or otherwise to inflict injury upon people, the scheme was not good.

The humanities after all are the [illegible] test.

The best proof of the [illegible] is the fact that when his teachings are obeyed and followed in the letter and in the spirit, people's condition is [illegible]. It makes them better members of the family and [illegible].

If [illegible] were to [illegible], no amount of [illegible] distress [illegible].

[illegible] torturing [illegible] or insulting [illegible] the name of [illegible] God is wrong.

I wouldent be serprised one way or the other, pop sed, and Ant Fanny sed, It was the queerest oddest dreem, Im sure even if it dusnt axually meen something it surely must hve some significants. Can you interpit dreems, Willyum? she sed.

Why, yes, I took up a short course in dreems once, pop sed looking as if he had a sudden ideer. Lets have the dreem and ill tell you the anser, he sed.

O how wonderfill, Ant Fanny sed. It was the strangest most pickuliar dreem, ferst it seemed I was on the roof of a high, high bilding eating a creempuff, dees that give you any clew? she sed.

I should say so, go on, go rite on, pop sed, and Ant Fanny sed. And then just as I had my mouth full of creempuff a strange dark man with ony one half of a mustash but otherwise quite hansome would invaribly appear from someware or rather from noware and ake me to tell how to get down, but I couldent anser a werd on account of all my orgins of speetch being blocked by the creempuff, have you got any more clews?

Ive got all I need without hearing the rest, pop sed. In the ferst place a creempuff meens a jerney and a creempuff on a roof meens a long jerney and a dark man neer a chimney meens your own home town and a half a mustash indicates quickness, suddenness and speed, so the whole dreem is sad news for me because it strongly points to the fact that youll very soon be leeving us, if you bleeve in dreems, and Ant Fanny sed, I most certeny do, and I think thats perfeckly marvellus. But cheer up Willyum, my dreems invariably go by opposites, so that meens Ill probably still be with you for a nice long time, she sed.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

THE TECHNICAL ARISTOCRAT

A while ago Mussolini flung his dream of the future to an Italian crowd:

"Twenty thousand leaders, teachers, engineers, bankers and manufacturers; five thousand army officers; three thousand magistrates; ten thousand public officials; all first-class, specialized men, imbued with organic technicism to the marrow; that is what Italy needs. From forty to fifty thousand men, specialized for the good of the nation, and constituting a directing class. We have had enough, and more than enough, politicians. Great technical aristocracies have to be reared and trained; they are not born ready-made."

I hold no brief for the Italian dictatorship, but Il Duce has here described the kind of aristocracy that is essential alike as the servant of a dictatorship and the savior of democracy.

Such an aristocracy is in the making in the technical civilization we are evolving in the United States.

The amateur still has a strangle hold on the leadership of American public affairs.

The technical aristocracy of disciplined intelligence that is now coming out of its adolescence is functioning outside the channels of political life.

But it is growing: the scope of its power covers a larger and larger area of American life every year.

I should like to pass on to this new American aristocracy of technically trained men these high words that I found myself underlining today in the preface to Emile Faguet's Politicians and Moralists of the Nineteenth Century—the liveliest and most thought-packed book I have read in many weeks.

"The education of democracy is difficult," says Faguet, "but more difficult still is the education of the successive aristocracies which are formed on the moving surface of democracies."

Faguet thought a new aristocracy was forming when he wrote these words in 1899, which only now have been translated into English, but he did not foresee this technical aristocracy of which I speak. His words, however, are applicable to them.

"Whatever will be the aristocracy which will break loose, for a more or less historical period, from the chaos or, if you like, the obscurity of the present moment, it will have to be persuaded, and it can be told in advance, that the life of an aristocracy depends upon the services which it renders, which is the same as saying that in order to live it must make sacrifices. An aristocracy is a self-sacrificing organism, existing on the strength of the duties which it can perform and perishing because of the duties which it forsakes.

"The aristocracy of tomorrow must be made to understand now that it will commit suicide not only if it abuses its victory, but also if it takes advantage of its victory and behaves as a conqueror."

Two Goats "Communism" and "Atheism"

Fresno Morning Republican

There is a great deal of merit in the campaign of leaders of the American Legion to fight communism and atheism.

For both communism and atheism are the evidences of a diseased. We want it to be healthy. do not want society to be disease. We want it to be healthy.

But let's not forget that there are other diseases of society than atheism and communism.

In fact, some of these diseases are the exact converse of atheism and communism.

To be healthy, we do not wish either extreme, any more than to be healthy should we have either too much acid or too much alkali in our systems. The "body politic," like the physical body, consists of a healthy balance of the elements on which life depends.

So, if we should find any one proposing to counter the evils of communism in present day Russia by proposing to restore czarism, we would be well to remember that the remedy would be greater than the evil.

So, if we should find some one attempting to fight atheism—the denial of the existence of God—by having each one of us building up a "god" of our own, on our own fetichism—then we would say that a broad minded atheism could not possibly be worse than a narrow minded religion for a community.

So we trust that the American Legion, in encouraging speakers to educate us against the evils of communism and of atheism, will never tie themselves down to any one man's or any one group's conception of God, nor to any one man's nor any one group's theory of how government can be made better "for" men.

Lincoln's phrase about government "of" the people and "by" the people, as well as "for" the people is one we too frequently forget. Stalin in Russia and Mussolini in Italy are both exponents of the "government for the people" idea.

Some of our American conservatives think no more of their fellow citizens than they do of prize cattle. If the people are well fed, no matter how rotten the government, then all is well.

What we need is a government that, be it very good, or just moderately good, is a government that we understand and share in. Of course it must have its successes. Any government that is a failure will not be tolerated. But we can tolerate the government that has its reverses, if we understand it, and share in it. Just as we can share with our friends their reverses of fortune.

Atheism is an evil. For it is a denial of the greatness of God which surrounds us. Communism is an evil, for it is a denial of the part that individuality plays in the promotion of human society. But neither should be opposed merely because they are hated by some one. And we should not always assume that the man who goes shouting against "atheism and communism" has the key to our happiness.

Dog Sledges' and Ice Ships' Mission to Rescue the Italia

San Francisco Chronicle

Rescuers trying to aid the Italia airship expedition to the North Pole have fallen back on the familiar and homely methods with which men have attacked the Arctic for years. Dog sledge and relief ship—these long-tried devices—are being brought into play to carry help to the crew of the stricken airship, the pride of modern achievement.

This is always the story of progress. When a fuse blows out and the electric lights die, there is a scurrying through the house for a candle. When an automobile is stuck in a rut and there is no tow car near, it is the dependable old horse that is counted upon to put the mechanical marvel back on the road.

In our matter-of-course way of accepting new and wonderful ways of achieving results, we are inclined to toss our old ideas into the mental waste basket. But when an emergency arises and there is a kink in the new machine we are glad enough to find the old reliable devices still function.

This is the limitation of human progress. Each epoch is made up of the one just past and the one just ahead. Laws written by hands long stilled in death still rule us. Customs established by men whose very names are forgotten still guide our automatic conduct. No era can stand by itself alone, for men venturing forth on new paths must still depend upon the old bridges for their retreat. However fast we may try to go, we are still chained to the past and must drag it forward with us.

The modern spirit of achievement and skill, the Italia sailed proudly over the Pole, above the ice fields where succeeding generations of explorers had toiled for months, fighting stubbornly for every mile of progress. It marked a great stage of progress from the ice ship and the dog team. Yet man with all his new-found skill has not chained the forces of nature beyond escape. And now, toiling forward in the effort to save Nobile and his heroic crew go the lines of dogs and men, still the last resort of the frozen North.
